YOUNG WOMAN

WAS ATTACKED BY A THUG IN CENTRALVILLEMiss Minnie Connor, daughter of Edward Connor, was brutally assaulted by a thug, about one hundred yards from her home, 112 Eighteenth street, Tuesday night shortly after six o'clock. The young woman's escape from being seriously injured was undoubtedly due to her presence of mind.While passing through a "snaky portion" of Eighteenth street, a man who apparently had been following her, became up from behind and placed his hand over her mouth. Miss Connor struggled so frantically that for the time being she shook off her assailant, but he grabbed her again and threw her to the ground. The young woman screamed at the top of her voice, but her assailant did not desist and tried to stop her from shouting.Disengaging one of her hands she drew one of the pins out of her hat and commenced jabbing at the man with the sharp point. Her work in this direction was such as to drive the thug off.Miss Connor managed to reach her home, but upon entering the door
she found a number of the neighbors were notified of the assault and immediately started in pursuit of the man, but he made good his escape.The matter has been reported to the police.

BIG LIBEL SUIT

Against Sunday Telegram, Sun-

of The Lowell Sun, Brings Suit
Against All Three as Co-de-

Period of Two Years—New Law
Point to be RaisedMr. John H. Harrington, proprietor of The Lowell Sun, through his counsel, Messrs. F. W. & S. E. Qua, commenced a joint suit this forenoon
against the Post Publishing company,
of Boston, publishers of the Boston
Sunday Post, Dennis A. Long, publisher of The Lowell Sunday Telegram and
G. C. Prince & Son, local news agents,
as co-defendants in an action for libel.The articles which the plaintiff alleges to be false, malicious and dangerous, appeared in The Sunday Telegram from time to time during the past two years, and are quite numerous. The suit against the Post Publishing Co. is brought on the ground that the Boston
Sunday Post and The Sunday Telegram are published as a combination paper in the city of Lowell, that they are circulated and sold invariably as a single publication and not separately.
This, the plaintiff alleges is done with the full knowledge, consent and agreement of the publishers of both papers,
that both divide the profits of these sales and are, therefore, jointly and severally liable for any libelous or damaging articles appearing in any part, section or supplement of the combination paper.The action against G. C. Prince & Son is brought on the ground that as news agents, under the direction of both publishers, and for their joint account, the said G. C. Prince & Son combined, inserted, circulated and sold this combination Sunday newspaper as a single publication, containing false, malicious and damaging statements

WATER BOARD MET

And Elected Clerk to Succeed Mr. Worthen

H. G. Pillsbury, the New Clerk, Transferred From Assessors' Office Through the Republican Members

At a special meeting of the water board held last night, H. G. Pillsbury was elected to the position of clerk in the water department, replacing Mr. George Worthen, who has been transferred to the assessors' office. The board also increased the pay of its clerk, an increase brought about by the resignation of Miss Ryan, Miss Anna J. Rafter was advanced to the position of secretary and Miss Ryan's position was given to Miss Ryan's sister, Miss Anna J. Rafter. The board also increased the pay of its clerk, an increase brought about by the resignation of Miss Ryan, Miss Anna J. Rafter was advanced to the position of secretary and Miss Ryan's position was given to Miss Ryan's sister, Miss Anna J. Rafter.

President Crowley called to order shortly after eight o'clock, and the board proceeded immediately to the election of a service clerk. Mr. Robert W. Van Tassel was the person who offered the name of H. G. Pillsbury and an inside official request of his resignation, brought on the board to vote for him. He said that Mr. Pillsbury was a clean young fellow and would be a good man for the position.

President Crowley referred his statement of Tuesday night and concluded that the department could and should save the salary of one clerk. He said that men in the department could be transferred so as to obviate the necessity of calling on the civil service list. It was an opportunity for the board to recognize and it was up to the board to do it.

Mr. Van Tassel said he was anxious to save money and he believed that the men spoken of for transfer, were just what the president of the board represented them to be, good, faithful and efficient men, but he believed that the position of service clerk should be filled by some one outside of the department. Mr. Van Tassel made quite a little speech in which he commended the president of the board and said things about himself from the political point of view.

Mr. Van Tassel said he had not been moved one way or the other by politics since he first took position on the board. "I voted for Mr. Crowley for upon the letter as a board document, that he signed it as an individual and did not look upon it as having any connection with the board. The fact remained, however, that the state civil service letter, the answer to the letter in question, was addressed to the board.

Mr. McDowell was not in favor of the transfer advocated by the president. In fact, he said, the transfer could not be made under the civil service law. He was speaking to the question of the transfers as advocated by Mr. Crowley.

After the question had been discussed pro and con and the president found that the republican members of the board were not anxious to save the $400 a year, he called for a motion. Mr. Van Tassel moved the election of H. G. Pillsbury as service clerk. Mr. Hill seconded the motion and the clerk called the roll. President Crowley was the first to vote and he voted for John J. Mullane. The three republican members, Messrs. Hill, McDowell and Van Tassel voted for H. G. Pillsbury and Mr. Pillsbury was declared elected.

THE PRESIDENT Names a Council of Fine Arts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Roosevelt yesterday created a council of the arts and directed that hereafter the heads of executive departments, business and commissions, before any plans are formulated for public buildings or grounds or for the location or erection of any statue, must submit the matter to the council and follow its advice unless for good and sufficient reasons the president directs otherwise. This action is in accordance with the president's announcement a few days ago, and is the outcome of suggestions to him by the American Institute of Architects. The council is composed of the following:

Architects—C. Howard Walker of Boston, Cass Gilbert, C. Grant LaFarge, Walter Cook, William A. Borah, S. B. P. Trowbridge, John G. Howard, Glenn Brown, Thomas R. Kimball, John L. Mauran, D. H. Burnham, John H. M. Johnston, George R. Post, Arnold W. Brunner, Robert S. Peabody of Boston, Charles E. McKim, William S. Kneass, James Rush Marshall, Abram Garfield, Frank Miles Day and William B. Mumdie.

Painters—John LaFarge, M. D. Millet, E. H. Blashfield and Kenyon Cox. Sculptors—Daniel C. French, Herbert Adams, H. A. MacNeil and K. T. Bitter. Landscape architects—Frederick Law Olmsted, Jr. of Boston.

The supervising architect of the treasury department is to act as executive officer in carrying out the recommendations of the council. The president named a larger number of architects as members of the council rather than representatives of the other arts because the number of architectural questions involving not only buildings, but the selection of sites, treatment of grounds and landscape accessories will largely predominate over all other problems likely to come before the body. The American Institute expresses its hearty appreciation of the services the president has rendered to the country and to the arts in the steps he has taken.

SUICIDE BROKER BRUTAL MURDER

Identified as Man of Two Men Shot Down at Checkered Career Middletown

RAWHIDE, Nev., Jan. 21.—Investigation into the affairs of Thomas S. Niblock, the broker, who committed suicide, shows that his real name was Thomas Proban of the well known family of that name of West Down, Ireland. He served in the commons from West Down and in the zenith of his career eloped with a celebrated Irish beauty. Four years later he left her in Paris and went to New York. The day he left she was killed in a train wreck and a man crashed beyond recognition in the same compartment of the wrecked train was buried by Proban by the members of his family. Proban read of the affair but maintained silence and allowed his family to continue in the belief that he was a victim of the wreck. He came to Nevada and won and lost a fortune before he committed suicide in a fit of despondency.

OVER VETO THE LEGISLATURE PASSED THE PROHIBITION BILL

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Over the veto of Gov. Patterson, both houses of the legislature yesterday passed senate bill No. 1, which prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors in Tennessee within four miles of a schoolhouse. The law is effective on July 1, 1939. The vote in the senate yesterday stood 29 to 12, the same as on original passage. The house vote was 61 to 32. The original house vote was 62 to 37. In each house the passage was effected by a combination of republicans and democrats.

MARY GARDEN HAS RESIGNED FROM OPERA COMPANY

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Rather than have another artist assume an operatic role which she made famous in this country, notwithstanding that artist previously appeared in the part abroad, Mary Garden, the American prima donna, resigned yesterday as a member of Oscar Hammerstein's Manhattan Grand Opera company. The announced future appearance of Miss Cavallieri, an Italian singer, in Miss Garden's part, "Thais," was the cause of the trouble.

The Test of Merit Lowell People Are Given Convincing Proof.

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kitchen machine. Dean's Kitchen Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a Lowell resident who has been cured and has stayed cured?

Read the following: Mrs. Edward Bradley, living at 100 Whipple street, Lowell, Mass., writes: "My husband used Dean's Kitchen Pills with the best of results. He had a great deal of trouble from his kidneys, he would hardly stop or stretch and his work, which is quite hard, had a tendency to make the trouble worse. He finally learned of Dean's Kitchen Pills, began using them and in a short time found that the pain and burning was relieved. We never he again used Dean's Kitchen Pills and they have given him the same prompt relief. He procures them at H. H. C. & Co's drug store."

Low of Rockport vs. Boston & Northern street railway company for damages for a broken electric light bulb in a car on which she was a passenger and which she was injured by the carelessness of an employee in turning a sign on the car while it was in motion, the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff for $1000.

WRITS FOR ARRESTS ISSUED OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 21.—Information charging Scott MacReynolds and Attorney Boston, representatives of Wm. R. Hearst, with having attempted to conspire with R. L. INDIGESTION IS SO EASY TO CURE

Indigestion has always caused more nervousness than any other ailment. If you have indigestion, you don't get all the nourishment out of your food that you should. Your worn out stomach passes the food on without extracting enough nutritious substance to supply the blood and nerves. And if the nerves are not supplied with nourishment, they begin to rebel. They kick up a great disturbance. They make you irritable and cranky, you worry about trifles, and you cannot sleep soundly at night, you have bad dreams, and you get up in the morning unrefreshed. Try Mi-o-na tablets, the money back cure. Mi-o-na will cure your nervousness by driving out the cause. Mi-o-na will give you relief the first day. It will cure acute cases in a few days, and chronic cases in a few weeks. Belching of gas, heartburn, sour taste of food, waterbrash, foul breath and other distressing symptoms vanish before the mighty power of Mi-o-na. Try Mi-o-na. Carter & Sherburne sell it and think so well of it that they will refund your money if it doesn't cure, and only 50 cents a large box. Mi-o-na sold in every town in America. Have you ever tried Booth's Laxative pills for constipation? They act with comfort and satisfaction. 25 cents a box.

THE HERO FUND

Awards Made to Two New England Persons

PITTSBURG, Jan. 21.—The Carnegie hero fund commission last night announced the names of 26 persons in different parts of the United States who have been awarded either money or medals for bravery.

Besides the 26 medals there are awarded $14,770 in cash and pensions aggregating $555 a month.

New England has her share of the heroes in the list. John Kennedy of Holyoke, Mass., on July 6, 1904, when he went to his death with Eddie Peddler, Jr., his chum. Kennedy was 15 years of age.

The Peddler child hero saving others was in a row boat when it broke from its fastenings and began to drift away. The child jumped overboard and was drowning when Kennedy tried to save him. The younger child threw his arms round the neck of his friend and begged him to save him.

Three times the boys went down together and finally Kennedy broke away and started to swim for the shore. He looked back, however, and seeing Eddie sinking again, he turned and went back.

The time the child threw his arms around Kennedy and held him fast, both drowning.

The commission gives the father of Kennedy a silver medal and $250. A bronze medal and $1000 are awarded to Neal W. Beattie of Goldfield, Vt., on Saturday, Jan. 2, 1936, Beattie performed a feat of heroism which is considered somewhat unusual. William A. Sargent, a chum of Beattie, had broken through the ice on Watts river and was drowning. He could not swim and the breaking ice worried him.

Beattie was skating some distance away, but came rushing up. He threw off his skates and when the ice broke under him as it had under Sargent, he broke his way to Sargent as fast as possible. Sargent's head was under water, but Beattie grasped him by his sweater and managed to swim to shore with him, breaking the ice as he went.

His hands were fearfully cut by the ice. Beattie is now attending Norwich university, paying part of his expenses by working out of school hours. The $1000 which he has been awarded will be paid out as he needs it from time to time.

Two Italians have been passed on favorably by the commission and their acts of bravery stand out prominently in the report. Peter Dean, a Mojave of Melton, Ariz., lost his life in the Colorado river in San Bernardino county, Cal., July 11, 1937, while trying to save a woman and child from drowning. The woman, with her son, had fallen from the steamer Hercules, which was going up the river, which at this time is very swift and deep, being at flood stage.

Dean was one of the deckhands. He threw a plank to the woman, then jumped into the water and managed to get both the woman and her son to the plank. He then started to guide the plank down the stream to get to shore. Suddenly he left the plank and tried to swim ashore. It is thought he led the plank simply to lighten it. He was drowned, but the woman and child were rescued.

The commission gives to the widow of Dean $25 per month for life or until she remarries and also $5 per month for her son until he reaches the age of 18.

The Indian Saltamah, known to the commission as Indian George, is given a bronze medal and $1000 because of the assistance he gave Dean on the above occasion.

A TOBAGGAN PARTY

Mr. Edward Cahill, the genial foreman of the D. & N. Street railway, entertained a number of his friends on Lexington Hill last evening with a toboggan party. Mr. Andrew Moffatt carried off first prize by making the longest slide, and Mr. John W. Keenan, the hoody prize for making the shortest slide.

After an hour's sport on the hill the party adjourned to the power house where the genial host provided his guests with a layout of hot coffee and sandwiches, which were much relished. Mr. Dooley favored the guests with a few selections, as did Miss Gunninghimer of Boston. About twenty friends were entertained.

$100,000 A DAY

To Support Refugees Made Homeless by the Earthquake

ROME, Jan. 21.—The gravest problem which Italy now faces is that of providing for the 200,000 refugees made homeless by the recent earthquake who are scattered throughout Sicily and Calabria or congregated in Naples. Their support is costing approximately $100,000 a day, an enormous sum which neither international charity nor the resources of the state can bear for any length of time. Besides, charity has had the effect of arousing the appetites of the low and turbulent classes resulting in numerous disorders. Thus it is made plain that it is more urgent to give work to these thousands instead of fostering in them the belief that they can indefinitely continue on public charity.

ARMY INSPECTION

Of Sixth Inf. at Armory Last Evening

The three local companies of the Sixth regiment held their annual United States army inspection at the armory last evening, before a crowd of spectators that taxed the capacity of the building. The inspecting officer was Major Faison, U. S. A., of the 24th Infantry, the famous Brownsville regiment, and he was assisted by Major Sweetser, commander of the First battalion of the Sixth Infantry, and his battalion adjutant, Lieut. Fisher.

There were many officers, past and present, of the state militia at the inspection, as interested spectators, among them being Capt. Colby T. Kirtledge of the general staff attached to the Sixth Infantry, and former Lieut. Arthur D. Colby, not many months ago a member of Co. K.

Previous to the inspection and during the early hours of the afternoon, the inspecting officers went through each company quarters, looked through the lockers of the men, and made careful inventory of federal government property in the hands of the companies.

With their new dress uniforms which have been issued to the men since the last previous inspection, the troops made an excellent appearance. The present dress uniforms are far more on the decorative order than the old blue blouses and "bell bottomed" trousers, while the neat leather belt and cartridge boxes.

All of the companies were put through their paces, and in the same way. First the companies were lined up one at a time on the floor of the drill shed, marching down from their own quarters where the ranks were formed.

Then came the usual inspection of arms and accoutrements, the inspecting officers passing down each of the two lines, examining each rifle and asking many questions of the men, and especially of the non-commissioned officers.

Then some one or two squads were picked out at random from the troops standing in company front, and put through squad drill in close and open order under command of the squad corporals. There was no attempt at advanced guard work or guard duty.

The inspection of the men was short, and none of the companies was on the floor more than 15 or 20 minutes.

The United States army inspection of Co. M, of the Ninth Infantry, M. V. M. will take place tonight at the armory, and it is expected that besides the regular army officers present, there will also be several officers from the staff and field of the Ninth Infantry.

AT ST. MICHAEL'S
The holy hour service will be held at St. Michael's church at 7:30 this evening.

Among the charges being made by the survivors are the following:
That but little fire apparatus was kept on hand; that the dynamite was carelessly handled; that the building was poorly constructed and was a veritable firetrap; that the only method of escape in case of fire was the aerial tramway which carried but a few persons at a time and was slow in operation.

The theory may be a true one, as not a man escaped by the west door which was cut off by a sheet of flame.

PRES. HIGGINBOTHAM RETIRES
CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—Harlow Higginbotham, for years the president of the board of trustees of the Field museum of natural history, has been retired from that position.

Stanley Field, nephew of Marshal Field, who founded the museum and in his will left a bequest of $8,000,000 for the housing of the institution, was elected in Mr. Higginbotham's place. Rumors of disunion among the trustees are also being denied. The election took place some days ago but the fact was concealed. It was given out that the retirement of Mr. Higginbotham was due to a desire to have young blood at the head of affairs.

HOLY FATHER

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 21.—In the absence of Archbishop Ryan, Rev. Philip McDevitt of Philadelphia will preach the funeral sermon at St. Patrick's cathedral tomorrow when the final ceremonies are held over the late Bishop McQuaid. Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state at Rome as representative of Pope Pius X, has called the following message:
The holy father sends expressions of his sympathy and condolence for the loss sustained by the Rochester diocese.

LILLEY DROPPED

No Longer a Member of the House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—That the service of George L. Lilley as a member of the house of representatives stopped on Jan. 6, the day following that on which he was inaugurated governor of Connecticut, was the opinion expressed by the house judiciary committee in a resolution adopted by the house yesterday. Gov. Lilley has not tendered his resignation to the house. The committee's report was on the resolution offered by Rep. Gaine, Tenn., striking Mr. Lilley's name from the roll of the house and declaring his seat vacant. It contained a letter from Gov. Lilley in which he said that he tendered his resignation as congressman to Gov. Woodruff, who declined to receive it, saying that to do so it would be necessary to hold a special election.

The judiciary committee reported that Mr. Lilley has not been in attendance at any time at the present session of congress although he drew his check for his stationery in full and also his check for clerk hire for the month of January. In December, Mr. Lilley made application from his home for a remittance of the mileage due him for the present session of congress but the sergeant-at-arms of the house informed him that mileage was payable only when a member has attended a session.

The committee claims in its report that the resignation tendered by Mr. Lilley to Gov. Woodruff was sufficient, although not accepted by the governor, to terminate his membership in the house insofar as Mr. Lilley is concerned.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Frank Emerson, a civil engineer of Lynn, and Miss Lillian G. Smith, formerly keeper of a cloak store in John street, were united in marriage at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church, Tuesday evening at 5:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. The best man was Mr. Archie Emerson, a brother of the bridegroom, and the bridemaid was Miss Lillian Brown, a cousin of the bride. Upon their return from their wedding tour, they will live at 102 Westford street.

TO HEAR REP. WILLET

Willet of New York, in which the president was severely criticized, met yesterday. Before final action is taken as to whether the speech should be stricken from the record, the committee will give Rep. Willet an opportunity to be heard if he desires.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Automobile manufacturers now in the city of New York to attend the show in Madison Square Garden have done considerable talking about the suggestion made by David Beers, a member of the Chicago Motor club's technical committee, that a uniform set of rules and conditions should be adopted to govern all of the stock chassis road races that will be run this year in different parts of the country.

Elmer Apperson, whose cars were entered in the Savannah and Bristol stripped stock classes, contests last year, said yesterday that he hoped the rules adopted by the Beirfield committee for the 1909 contest for the trophy donated by Walter W. Law would be adopted at the proposed meeting which is scheduled to be held during the progress of the Chicago show next month. He said that the members of the Beirfield committee had evidently considered the matter very carefully before making their second and final draft of rules, he thought it would be a great mistake to make another change.

Hugh N. Harding, who drove the National six cylinder racer in the Automobile Club of America's Grand Prix contest at Savannah last Thanksgiving Day, sails for England today on a business trip. He expects to return here in five or six weeks, when he will go to Indianapolis to oversee the construction of two racing cars at the National factory. The two cars are to be built up to the limit of the rules adopted at the congress of the International Association of Recognized Automobile clubs in France last year, but the National firm will also enter stock car events for which their regular cars are eligible.

As a result of a decision recently rendered by Judge McHenry in the district court, Des Moines, Ia., tall lights on automobiles are not necessary in that city if the red lights on the side can be seen from the rear. A number of automobilists who were arrested for driving around the city streets at night without tall lights, and whom Police Judge Stewart fined, appealed to sustain his own action and contended that tall lights were necessary in that city. The court found that the only requirement was that a red light shall show to the rear of the car. There was nothing to demand that the light must hang at the rear end of the car, so he dismissed all the cases.

SURPRISE PARTY

MISS BELLA LEAR WAS PRESENTED BEAUTIFUL SIGNET RING

A very enjoyable surprise party was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Winifred P. Lear, 322 Lincoln street, when her daughter, Miss Bella Lear, made the recipient of a beautiful signet ring. The presentation address was delivered by Master Joseph Sousa. Miss Lear responded and in fitting words thanked her friends for the token.

During the evening games were played and an excellent musical program was given. It included vocal solos by Masters Frank Routine, and Joseph Sousa and Miss Lear. The pianists were Misses Lear and Carey. Refreshments were served and the guests departed thanking the hostess for the good time enjoyed.

KID CARTER

WAS PUT AWAY BY PECK LE FAVOR

BROCKTON, Jan. 21.—There were four boxing bouts at the opening of the Union Athletic club here last night. Peck Lefavor of this city put Kid Carter of Lowell away in less than two rounds. The Brockton boy had his man groggy at the end of the first round and finished things up in an easy manner in the second.

Jack Johnson, a colored miller of Boston, put Howard Briggs of this city, formerly Quill's sparring partner out of the going in two rounds. Briggs fought well in the opening round, but was sent spinning in the second with a stiff left to the jaw.

Ed Grady and Kid McDonald of Boston boxed a good four-round draw. Kid Reardon boxed Tim Leary of this city in a four-round go.

Pat Doherty was referee.

BILLERICA

The regular meeting of North Billerica council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night at 8 P. M. at the home of A. McLean and Grand Guide Joseph H. Gorman were entertained. It was intended to install the officers that were recently chosen by the council but this matter was postponed and will take place Wednesday, Feb. 3. A collation was provided after the meeting.

The Assa John Patten Sewing circle, 20, met with Mrs. C. J. Curnutt Sunday afternoon with a good number present. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fred Smith. The next circle will meet with Miss Josie Callahan Wednesday, Jan. 27.

A SALOON FIGHT POSTAL BANKS

Resulted in Death of Man at Pawtucket

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Jan. 21.—Eugene Goefroy, who has a wife and two children living here, died here today at the Pawtucket hospital of a fractured skull, while Joseph St. John, a former friend of the man, is under bonds charged with assault.

According to the police, Goefroy and St. John quarreled in a saloon one night last week. Later Goefroy was found unconscious and his friend was arrested. The police say that further developments will follow an autopsy which has been ordered.

JAIL THREAT

STATE OF KANSAS DOWN ON "AFFINITIES"

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 21.—The "affinity" business will not be popular in Kansas hereafter. A law making it a felony will pass the legislature and Gov. Stubbs has promised to sign it. Senator Travis of Topeka has introduced a bill which makes it a felony for a married woman to run away with another man, and vice versa. Even a temporary "affinity" is punishable by a jail sentence.

Any man who deserts his wife or a legitimate child under 14 years of age will be guilty of a crime punishable by a jail or penitentiary sentence. The same punishment is to be meted out to a wife. If a man refuses to support his wife or child, he must go to jail.

Another bill, which seems certain of passage, provides that brides and grooms must be subjected to strict questioning by the probate judge before they are granted a license to marry. In addition, consent of parents, etc., they must give a "family history," dating back through several generations.

These questions relating to the health and disease of parents are such as to require them to be answered in private by groom and bride, as they relate to matters which a modest groom or a blushing bride would not care to answer in the presence of the other.

U. S. BATTLESHIPS

SALONIKA, Turkey, Jan. 21.—The battleships Ohio and Mississippi left here today for Smyrna. Before their departure officers of the ships exchanged visits with the local authorities.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Court City of Lowell, held in Foresters hall last night, was well attended and considerable routine business was transacted during the evening. Four candidates were initiated.

The court contemplated a "class initiation" in the near future. It was voted to change the second meeting night in March from the 17th to the 19th in order to give an opportunity for the St. Patrick's day celebration to be carried out in Foresters hall. Refreshments were served.

Overlin Lodge, I. O. O. F., was entertained Tuesday night by P. G. W. M. Cotton, who gave an interesting description of the initiatory degree as exemplified by Monadnock lodge of Lawrence. The committee on collection on new paraphernalia and on new members made reports; and new work was assigned along all lines. The paraphernalia for the new work will soon be here, and the degrees will be put on in good shape.

Lady Franklin Council, No. 17, D. of L., held a well attended meeting Jan. 20, in O. U. I. A. hall. Routine business was transacted. An ex-council badge was presented Mrs. Ida E. Johnson by ex-N. A. C. Mrs. Foster. The Busy Bee Sewing circle will meet at Mrs. Q. A. Foster's, 41 D Street, Thursday, Jan. 28. Mrs. Louise Reilins and Mrs. Ida Pascall will be the hostesses.

Erickson Council, R. A.
The regular meeting of John Erickson council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night and considerable business was transacted. During the evening the following officers were installed: Regent, Gustaf A. Johnson, vice regent, John Lund; orator, Anders Johnson; P. R., John Severson; secretary, Eric A. Johnson; collector, Forsten Reinsten; treasurer, Victor W. Platin; chaplain, Albert P. Carlson; guide, Harold Horn Dahl; warden, Sverre O. Christensen; trustee for three years, A. Bernard Lindquist.

The officers were installed by S. D. G. R. Wm. E. Brown of Newtonville, who also presented to Regent-elect Gustaf A. Johnson a handsome P. R. Jewel on behalf of the council.

PUBLIC MEETING

Held by the Butchers and Grocers Association

D. C. Palmer of Boston, deputy inspector of weights and measures, read an interesting paper on "Weights and Measures," at a meeting of the Butchers and Grocers Association held in Odd Fellows temple, Middlesex street, last evening. There was a fairly good attendance and great attention was paid to what Mr. Palmer had to say.

President Edward Fitzpatrick was in the chair and he introduced as the first speaker, Mayor Brown, who made a brief address that had to do with the enforcement of the law.

Mr. Palmer was next introduced. He said that Massachusetts was one of the first states in the Union to receive acts from the national government relative to the standard of weights and measures.

In 1895, conditions having changed rapidly in recent decades, a state inspector was named. New legislation was enacted in that year and an aggressive campaign in the cities and towns throughout the state was begun. At first it seemed as if the task was hopeless one. At last reform came and scales of weights and measures showed that they could do what was expected of them. In 1907 the work of this department had increased to such an extent that Gov. Gould appointed a commission.

Many cities and towns the scales had been lax in their duties. Such careless officials had proven a great detriment to the proper workings of the department. There were great losses not only to the purchasers of goods but also to the dealers. Scales had been found which were not always "fast." In some instances they had proven to be "slow." In cities where the system is excellent, attempts are still being made to doctor weights and measures. If one is a housekeeper she should know what she is getting, and if one is a dealer he should also be protected against the infringement of the law by some dishonest competitor.

The enforcement of the laws relating to standard weights and measures touches every human being in some form every day in the year. Mr. Palmer referred to ice scales which were sealed once annually, and to customs of weighing the tons with the ice. He cited instances of hawkers and peddlers who had several sets of scales and measures. The sealed set they always carried with them in case their scales were demanded. The other set or sets were often used. Seventy-five per cent. of the prosecutions made in the state had been among hawkers and peddlers. Strawberry boxes came in for a lot of criticism. Some were found to hold 25 per cent. less than is required by law. Cranberries, beans and peas are often sold, he said, by the liquid rather than by the dry measure. Short weight in coal was spoken of. One instance was cited in which the shortage had proven to be 100 pounds in three-ton lots.

Creamery and print butter was often found to be of short weight. Five pound boxes were often weighed and found to total up five pounds, box and all. Referring to food stuffs he said that as the law now is the merchant who sells manufactured articles under weight is liable to prosecution. A bill was introduced in the last session of congress to remedy this. The manufacturers fought it, however, and it was defeated, although the committee had reported favorably on it. In conclusion Mr. Palmer showed scales and weights which had been seized and which showed the cunning and dishonest dealers in an attempt to violate the law without detection.

Other speakers included David Gerow, president of the state association of grocers and butchers and lawyers James E. O'Donnell and Stanley E. Qua.

An excellent entertainment was given in the First Congregational church last night by the Dunbar concert company, the affair being one of the entertainments in the Young Men's Christian Association star course.

The company is composed of Ralph Dunbar, first tenor and vocalist; Albert Hinde, second tenor and pianist; Harry Dunbar, baritone and leader; J. L. Felger, basso.

A feature of the entertainment was the bolero singing in which some excellent selections were rendered, including "The Gondoliers," from "Neville's Venetian Suite," and the variations on "The Gaynor's 'Slumber Boat'." The Portu-guese Hymn and Adeleto Fideles were also among the most attractive of their selections.

Among the quartet numbers were Tenneyson's bugle song with a familiar musical setting, and a variety of humorous selections. Of the latter, their imitable grand opera burlesque was perhaps the most popular, though the story of Adam and Eve and the apple, in dainty dialect, aroused peals of laughter.

Not by any means least in importance in a program of general excellence, were the "cello solos" by Mr. Ralph Dunbar, who handles his instrument with the skill of a master.

DIAMOND NOTES

The Philadelphia Nationals have refused to waive claim to Jack Hanfman and will take the former New York and Boston players.

As the Highlanders are to open, the season against Washington, it probably means they are to go against Walter Johnson and eight assistants and try to avoid a shutout.

It is said that Jiggs Donahue is not at all sure of being retained as the White Sox first baseman another season, and that if Coniskey puts him on the market McLeaver will gobble him.

"I do not agree with the idea that the influence of summer baseball is bad for university men," said Dr. Hutchins, University of Wisconsin physical director. "I have a keen respect for baseball as it is played. I have observed that the men who play the game are more orderly than those who follow it. There is more roystering in the grand stand and the bleachers than on the field."

Evans has signed to umpire in the American league again, which is well. Evans has improved immensely and come to be one of the best of umpires.

Outfielders who are arranging Stallings' team for him next season are taking no account of Charlie Hemphill, leading batsman for the Hilltoppers last season. It may be that Stallings will think it a good plan to sandwich a veteran in among his young outfielders for steady purposes.

It begins to look as though Eastern would be in the Tri-State league of baseball clubs this coming season. Prof. Charles S. Ketchner of the faculty of Albright College, Meadville, Pa., who played baseball while at Lafayette in the class of 1895 and is an honorary member of the Tri-State league, was there yesterday conferring with D. F. Ballentine, desiring Eastern to take the place of Wilmington, who has withdrawn. Baseball fans are very favorable to the suggestion.

All American league clubs except St. Louis have welled on Jake Stahl.

Kohle Miller has signed to manage and play second base for Eastern in the Atlantic league.

Patsy Donovan is making a stab at getting a franchise in the New England league for Salem.

Frank Eastley, who finished last year as manager of the McKeesport team, has signed with San Francisco for the coming season and will report next month.

"Rube" Witherspoon drafted from Des Moines by Washington, does not like the figures in the contract sent to him by Cantillon and has returned the document unsigned.

All the guesses on the line-up of the Pirates for the coming season put Alan Storke on third base. As a matter of fact Storke may not wear a Pittsburgh uniform at all next year.

President Harry Pulliam sent Joe Kell a telegram wishing him good luck in his future management and congratulating him for settling the matter outside of the courts.

William J. Moriarty, who jumped the San Francisco club two years ago, and who has played since with the Stockton club (outlaws), has asked the national board to reinstate him.

Frank Shaghtnessy, formerly an outfielder with the Philadelphia and Washington teams of the American league, is to manage the team at Roanoke in the Virginia State league next season and play outfield.

Frank Sele, the famous manager of the old Boston, who is forced to live in Denver because of his health, has bought a large hotel, and he is said to be doing a big business right off the reel.

Catcher Holmes, who was injured in Birmingham last season and was given his freedom by the club, has signed a contract with Zanesville for next season. Holmes was formerly with the Cardinals and with the Hoosiers.

Taking it for granted that Jack Hayden will be sent back to the minors, some of the St. Louis scribes are suggesting that the Cardinals get him. Charlie Murphy will not "can" Hayden till he has shown that he is inferior to young Miller.

"I have no sympathy with the average hoodoo belief in baseball," says Manager Griffith. "A ball player who thinks he is going to lose a game just because he happens to see a lot of hay on its way to the park must be a little shy on nerve."

As a result of having one of his feet frozen while attending a funeral some time ago, Harry Schlatley is compelled to use a crutch in walking. Schlatley is signed to play with Newark of the Eastern league. Last season he was manager of the Toronto team.

The Red Sox certainly drew the prize plum in the opening year of the American league. A record breaking attendance will be on hand at Connie Mack's new $1,000,000 ball park.

Through an arrangement made with the management of the St. Paul team of the American association the westerners will train with the Red Sox at the latter's grounds in Hot Springs. Jack Fournier will thus have a chance to show his old teammates how he shapes up.

McGraw is already looking for bets on the season of 1909. He offers to wager $10,000 or any part of it, that the Giants win the pennant.

Roger Bresnahan has just recovered from a severe attack of pneumonia.

At Marquette, Mich., a half-breed by the name of Dixon, one of the cleverest pitchers in the state, has just been sentenced to state prison for a term of two years. The convicts are enthusiastic over the formation of a ball team, but the warden will probably take no chances of having Dixon bounce a tin dipper off the devoted turnkey's head.

Nearly a score of minor league players are to make their second entry into the majors this coming season. The re-entrance of this aggregation will somewhat atone for the passing of Jack Warner, Jimmy Collins, Socks Seybold, Jack O'Connor and other stand-bys.

A brother of Roger Bresnahan is scheduled to get a tryout with the Giants. So New York will still have its Bresnahan.

Barney Dreyfuss, the supposed owner of the Pittsburgh club, is quoted as saying at a banquet held by baseball men in Cleveland that had it not been for the opposition of H. C. Pulliam in 1902 he would have "jumped his club into the American league." Those who were in touch with American league affairs at that time will recall the fact that Ban Johnson and his fellow promoters did not want to have Dreyfuss join them under any circumstances, and that if peace had not been declared they would have lost no time in placing a rival club in the Smoky City.

It has been suggested that the National league should appoint Pop Anson to the position of "supervisor of umpires" at a salary of $1500 a year. Harry Wright and John B. Day held such a berth at different times, but it is regarded as doubtful if Anson would accept an offer of this kind. The veteran baseball leader has always been opposed to being known as a pensioner and has never had much use for the liberality of the magnates. He will run a semi-professional ball club known as Anson's Colts this year and expects to get on his feet before the snow flies again next fall.

It was learned up in Chicago lately that "Jiggs" Donahue's job with Comiskey's White Sox is not at all secure for another season. Coniskey is liable to throw this star first sacker on the market before spring and if he even breathes of such a threat Jimmy McLeaver will pounce upon him in a jiffy.

Donahue had a bad year last season. It was the first time he ever had a bad year. But it wasn't entirely his fault. About the first week of July he sprained his ankle down in Washington and went about on crutches for a week or two.

This kept him out of the game for several weeks and during that time the first baseman job was held down by old Frank Isbell and big "Jawa" Anderson. Both of these players were slugging the ball unmercifully and when "Jiggs" was able to get in the game he couldn't stick because he wasn't hitting the ball.

Sitting on the bench was anything but agreeable to Donahue, and there arose ill-feeling between him and Fielder Jones, the leader of the club. Jones is the quietest manager in the business anyway, and seldom talks to a player unless there is a reason, and he could see no reason for arguing with Donahue over the question of playing first base.

Fielder Jones had decided Isbell or Anderson would be more serviceable to the club and simply turned his back on Donahue, leaving him sitting gloomily on the bench.

Donahue is now dissatisfied, and so is Jones, and there is a possibility he will be traded if Coniskey could secure some good pitching strength, in exchange. A change of scene for "Jiggs" would revive all that wonderful fire he showed in the seasons of 1906 and 1907, when nearly every critic in the country awarded him first place among the first basemen of the country. "Jiggs" was in St. Louis in 1902 as a "kid" catcher. Doubtless he would not object to returning as a star first baseman.

"What is the reason left-hand batters find it so hard to successfully hit left-hand pitchers?" one often hears ask says Eddie Joss, the Cleveland pitcher.

After seeing a few of the star southpaws working against a club of left-hand batters, it is plain why this question so often comes up.

As a rule the port-side hurler invariably hits the left-hand batter look like he was tied to the post.

There are two explanations for this. One is because no club has more than two southpaws who are worked regularly on its pay roll, while most of them have only one, and some of them have none at all.

This gives the left-hand batter but little chance to hit against a star wheeler. That is, he sees one about every four days, and sometimes not so often.

Not having much of a chance to hit against this style of pitching, it is only natural that when an off-side stickler does get a crack at a left-hander he is lost.

When facing a right-hander twirling the left-hand hitter has the advantage of knowing that every time the flinger hands up a curve ball it is going to break in toward him. With a southpaw in the reverse is the case.

One thing every batter does, and an act which is perfectly natural, is to pull a little as soon as the pitcher starts to deliver the ball.

By this is meant stepping back just a little, so that in case the ball is in close the batter can step back and hit, or he can step aside and let it go without being hit by the ball.

With a left-hand pitcher on the slab and one whose curve ball, instead of breaking into a left-hand batter, breaks over the shoulder of a right-hander, this act of pulling just about ruins his chances of ever hitting this sort of ball successfully.

Any time a southpaw can keep his curve ball low and over the outside corner of the plate, to a left-hand batter, it's a pretty tough job for the man at the plate to get many drives into safe territory.

There are a few port-side hurlers who can hit the southpaw successfully. Matty McIntyre of the Tigers hits them just as hard as he does the right-hand flingers.

BOXING GOSSIP

The first bet on the probable match between Jeffries and Johnson has been registered in Memphis with James Kinnane, the founder of the Phoenix Athletic club, laying even money that the champion will not stay ten rounds with Jeffries. If they meet Kinnane figures that Johnson will quit and explains his opinion by incidents he says he witnessed when Johnson was fighting in the south and before he came to Memphis.

On that occasion Bobby Dobbs, then a private with Johnson, and Kinnane says he saw Dobbs make his heavier opponent quit on three occasions.

Joe Wordman, manager of Sam Langford, claims to have received a cablegram from "Peggy" Brannan of the National Sporting Club, London, stating that transportation and funds for expenses were now on the way to this country for Sam Langford to visit England and meet Jack Johnson, manager of the Pacific coast, it looks as if the two colored men will meet on the other side of the big pond.

Battling Nelson will be a member of President Roosevelt's hunting expedition, and will leave with him early in the spring for Africa.

This was the statement made by the lightweight champion just before boarding a train for Ashland, Ky., where he will begin a series of "one night" theatrical performances, doing a monologue and boxing stunt.

"Yes, we talked it all over when I was in Washington last week," declared the prize of Hagerstown. "We had been discussing hunting in the west and I told him about some of the shooting I had done and he asked me to go with him on his hunt next summer."

"Of course I had read a good deal about it in the newspapers, and I promised him then and there I would be with him."

It was said by several theatrical men in New York yesterday that Jeffries had signed a contract for ten weeks to appear at the different vaudeville houses in Great New York at a salary of $1500 a week. The statement, it was said, had been made by the manager of the big pugilist, who will arrive in New York in about three weeks with Sam Berger, Billy Delany and a retinue of camp followers. Word was also received from England yesterday that Jack Johnson will open at a London theatre on February 8, and close on February 15, on the other side will not end before September. This is taken to mean that if Jeffries and Johnson are matched they will not enter the ring before next December. It is the general opinion, too, that they will settle their differences at Coma, Cal., under the management of James J. Corbett. It is said that Johnson will not stay ten rounds in the event of a battle scheduled to go 25 rounds or less.

SENATOR SHAW THE DUNBAR CO.

Wants People to Name U. S. Senators Gave a Fine Concert Program

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—A bill for the direct nomination of United States senators was filed yesterday afternoon by Senator Shaw of Manchester. The bill contains provision for a referendum, and is to be submitted to the voters next fall if it passes the legislature and is signed by the governor.

New features of the measure are intended to overcome the weak spots in laws of the same kind adopted by other states. The latest of these developed in Oregon, the law of which was used as a copy for the bill, and Senator Shaw claims to have evaded the possibility of such conditions as preceded the election of Senator Chamberlain by so wording his measure that no legislator may be charged with bad faith if he should vote for his party candidate for United States senator, even though the candidate of the opposition might secure a majority of the votes cast in the election.

The bird was so high on points that she won over the hen that was awarded first prize at the big show at Madison Square Garden two weeks ago.

On a string of birds entered at Portland, Me., Mr. Richardson won first, second, third and fifth prizes; first, third and fourth cockerels; second, fourth and fifth pullets; third cock; and fourth and fifth on pens. He was also awarded six special ribbons, four cash awards, besides the association and national club cups.

THE FEDEAL LIBEL SUIT.

The libel suit started by the federal government against the New York World is exciting great curiosity throughout the country. It is evidently instigated by the president because his brother-in-law, Douglas Robinson, and Charles P. Taft, brother of the president-elect, were the two men mainly reflected upon.

The facts leading up to the proceedings have already appeared in the press of the country over and over again. The government, after considerable negotiations, decided to buy out the rights of the French Panama canal company at $40,000,000. At the same time it was decided to pay the Colombian government $10,000,000 to satisfy its claims. At these figures it was considered to be cheaper to finish the Panama canal than to construct the Nicaragua canal outright. But here is where the rub came in. It was reported that a syndicate of smart American speculators, among whom it was falsely alleged were Messrs. Robinson and Taft, had secured the rights and interests of the French company for $12,000,000 and had, therefore, a rake off of the balance of the $40,000,000.

Now, if all this were true it would be no reflection upon the American government, and neither would it leave Messrs. Robinson and Taft open to any criminal charge. It was only a matter of shrewd buying and selling, speculation, pure and simple, which in the United States is not proscribed by law. Of course it would seem to be a piece of sharp practice exercised at the expense of the United States; and the two men implicated being so close to the president and the president to be, the fact was sufficient to get Mr. Roosevelt excited. Hence he has secured a federal grand jury to call up the authors of the article and find what they know about the origin of the story. Then with the information thus obtained either Robinson or Taft may bring a libel suit for damages on their own account, but the idea of the United States government entering a libel suit against any newspaper is regarded as ludicrous by the leading lawyers of the country. It is designated as a bold attack upon the liberty of the press.

An attempt was once made to enter a libel suit against a Connecticut minister for slandering President Jefferson, but the latter ordered the proceedings promptly stopped as an attack upon the freedom of the press. President Roosevelt apparently is not so scrupulous in regard to the protection of the press. We do not believe that he can bulldoze the courts into mulcting a paper just to satisfy his personal enmity. Besides it is now announced that the N. Y. World will set up the truth of the story as a defense and should it be able to maintain such a defense the president would then be completely foiled in his vengeful fight.

STATE BOARD CONTROVERSY.

There is a good deal of discussion over the matter of transferring the duties of the commission on industrial education to the state board of education so that the latter body can do the work now done by both.

Unless the state board of education be constituted of men who will give their entire time to the work, and who will be selected specially on account of their fitness to conduct such educational courses this talk of having the members assume the duties of the industrial education commission is all nonsense.

Thus far the industrial commission has done splendid work, and we believe that to transfer its duties to the state board of education would be a step backward. The duties of the industrial commission are so radically different from those of the state board that it is very doubtful if any one body could discharge the functions of both effectively. The men who are best qualified to serve on the industrial commission are men who have had technical training in various trades and lines of manufacture. On the other hand to perform their duties efficiently the members of the state board must be highly educated men who combine a wide knowledge of educational matters with sound business experience. Such men are not likely to be versed in matters of technical education, nor are the men so versed likely to be conversant with the work of formulating and directing educational systems of public instruction.

For these reasons we do not believe that either board can properly perform the work of the other and that it would, therefore, be a grave mistake to saddle the duties of both boards on either one as at present constituted.

NORMAL SCHOOL CAN'T BE ABOLISHED.

The proposition by the house committee on ways and means to abolish one or more normal schools may be justified. The school at Hyannis does not seem to have business enough to justify its existence, yet its expense is nearly as great as that of the Lowell school. The latter has now a good record during the years of its existence in this city, and it is now doing perhaps better work than ever before. It is probably the best normal school in the state. That being so, there is no excuse for abolishing it. The ways and means committee had better abolish some less important institution.

The Normal school fills an important place in training teachers for Lowell, Lawrence and many of the towns. To abolish it now would be an act of recklessness that would prove very expensive to the state. A similar school would soon have to be established.

Surely this committee has not adopted a policy of destruction. It is easy to tear down. It requires time and brains to build up. The ways and means committee will have to look elsewhere in its quest of fresh sources of revenue.

MR. PRATT'S RESIGNATION.

Everybody who has known Mr. Amasa Pratt's efforts to reduce the business of the pauper department to a thoroughly economic basis will regret his resignation from the board. He gave to the work of the board much of his valuable time with the result that the expenditures, instead of increasing, have been taken down during the last few years. The lady appointed to succeed Mr. Pratt, Mrs. H. L. Tibbets, may be a very charitable woman and a good administrator, but yet we feel she will find it very difficult to accomplish as much in the line of reform as did Mr. Pratt.

SEEN AND HEARD

He lost his best girl and bought a dog. He gave the dog his girl's name and lived happy ever after. Poor little dog.

Love is a pretty tough thing to discuss. All the gold lined or solid silver words of the sweetest singer do not fill the bill. We may draw a minute's eye view of the effect on Juliet of Romeo's wordless thrills, and we may paint in fancy the warmth of the lover's embrace, but it requires real experience to enable one to do the subject justice and that is why it is not discussed in this column.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

As you go upon your way,
On your duties day by day,
Be you grave or be you gay,
Speak a kindly word.

As you wander to and fro,
As you come and as you go,
Mild the tears and mild the woe,
Do a kindly deed.

And no matter whom you meet,
In the home or in the street,
Still be loving, gentle, sweet,
Think a kindly thought!

—SUSMAN

For years, Henry, John and Maurice had been poking fun at "Li" because of his age. They called him "the old man" but they won't call him that any more because the tables have turned on all except Maurice and if the truth were known they would have turned on him too, but for the fact that he had destroyed his birth record. "Li" was a patient sufferer under the attacks of his friends when the age question was being discussed but he always cherished the thought that some day something would happen that would make the other fellows ripe the goat and when things began to turn in his favor they turned good and quick. John, the most belligerent of the lot in his attacks, is very fond of fishing and hunting and in order to be at liberty to say "pooh, pooh," to game wardens and country constables, he liked to the city clerk's office and bought a hunter's license. He didn't read what was written thereon and when he came back, down town, he showed it to "Li." The latter looked it over a bit carefully at first, but suddenly his face was flooded with the light of interest and the light was followed by a peal of laughter. Poor John didn't know that on that license was recorded his age as he gave it to the clerk. The age was 54 and that's what he died with. He laughed until John wished that he never called him "old man."

He couldn't squeal, for there was the big "54" standing out in bold relief and the figures numbered quite a few years more than "Li" had to his credit. "Murder will out," said "Li" when he recovered sufficiently to speak. "I always knew you were one of Lowell's old landmarks," John shut up. He didn't have any more show than a snowball in a hot oven and he knew it, and "Li" knew that John never again would refer to him as "the old man."

A few days later "Li" called on Henry. It seemed as if things had started to come the former's way and that nothing in the world could stop them. He had been with Henry but a few minutes when he walked an old friend of the latter. "Well," said the friend to Henry, "it seems like old times to meet you. I often think of the good times we had years ago." "How old are you?" interrupted "Li." "Henry and I are about of an age, aren't we, Henry?" said the friend. "Just about," said Henry, unconscious of the motive of "Li's" question. "Yes," continued his friend, "I am 53 and I think Henry is a year or two older than I."

It was "Li's" turn to laugh again and poor Henry felt like a plate of ice cream in the hot sun and it didn't assuage his grief when "Li" told him how the fatal "54" had turned the same trick on his friend John. Now it is "Li's" fondest hope that he will catch Maurice even though his birth record has been destroyed and he looks forward to the day when they will be calling him "the young fellow" instead of "the old man."

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

That popular rural play "Quincy Adams Sawyer," which is being played at the opera house every night this week with daily matinees, has many strong comedy features, yet it possesses touches of true pathos which prove that author, producer and the management have labored with good results to appeal to the sentiment of the audience. The surroundings, the mise-en-scene of the last act, for example, are most effective in a novel, striking and powerfully appealing way. The rising curtain discloses the exterior of a farmhouse, wrapped in the folds of a New England snow storm. A moment is given to this picture, and the front wall of the house disappears and the action of the play goes on within it. The storm within is indicative of the stress within, and the visual impressions intensify sympathetically with the tribulations of the characters. Hope blossoms into fruition as the action proceeds, and joy succeeds grief.

"UNDER SOUTHERN SKIES"

The south has furnished material for a number of plays which have been very popular in public esteem and obtained large pecuniary returns. But the play which is now prominent in favor, in fact, the only one dealing with southern life which is now prominent before the public is Little Blair Parson's "Under Southern Skies." Other southern plays there may be, but as no recent play of New England life equals in popularity or interest the same author's "Way Down East," so no other of the newer plays dealing with life in the south, approaches "Under Southern Skies." The play is now in its eighth season. It has charmed and amused thousands of people, since its first presentation and with each succeeding visit to the many cities where larger and larger audiences are of play which can be seen again and again with renewed interest, for a story of life in the south, is such a strong one, it is so much to the liking, and there is with it all so much fun, such beautiful scenery, such pretty costumes and such a good representation of the southern character that the spectator is kept in an arrested and amused state of mind from the first act to the last. "Under Southern Skies" comes to the opera house, Monday, Jan. 26th.

FRANK DANIELS

"Hook of Holland," one of the cleanest and sweetest musical importations from England in recent years, with its strong attraction announced for the opera house Tuesday, Jan. 26. Daniels is asserted, has given the most wholesome and beautiful entertainment to resort to coarseness or buffoonery. This favorite comedian is now under the direction of Charles Frohman, who sends Mr. Daniels to the stage with a company of sixty people and a production showing as it does the quaint and picturesque life of the Dutch colony of Holland, which is suggestive and picturesque. Daniels, who first played the role, in this country, remains in that role, and among the other principals are: Mrs. Daniels, Miss Hope, Emily Lee, Will Danforth, Leslie, Mrs. Arthur Harold and Glen White.

PLAYERS NEVER FREE FROM STAGE FRIGHT

If you ever have watched a player just about to go upon the stage you cannot but notice the look of distraction and vague uneasiness upon his countenance.

Even as great an artist as Sarah Bernhardt is not free from it. She is always nervous before the play begins and the nervousness does not wear off until she has been on the stage for a short time. Occasionally this nervousness creates a singular looking and nervous expression, and she is, in fact, a nervous wreck. Mabel Taliaferro, the star of "Polly of the Circus," is always nervous and she is before she goes on the stage. She says: "I could not want to go on unless I felt nervous."

"GIRLS," Charles Cherry, who was formerly appearing as leading man with Clyde Fitch's latest comedy, "Girls," which will be seen here soon.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

George B. Reno and company, with their military burlesque "A Mist Army," will greatly please the patrons of Hathaway's this week. The Sullivan triplets impersonate the soldiers of all nations, or nearly all, from a skilful Scotch Highlander to a bandy-legged South African dismounted cavalier. And Uncle Sam's soldiers are represented in this congress of the nations by a perfect mastodon of a man in khaki. Miss Bessie Reno helps along the act some.

C. B. Lawlor and daughters give a crisp, delightful singing act called "Night and Day on the Sidewalks of New York." It's all good, every minute of it. The three girls from Italian characters through to an Irish lad singing to two winsome colleens. The act is a distinct hit. Hanley & Jarboe supply their wit with their repartee, and other entertainers are: Christie & Willis, jugglers and dancers; Roberts, Hayes & Roberts, in the sketch "The Secret of the Ginger Lady"; Doherty Sisters, called "The Ginger Girls"; Willie Weston, a favorite imitator and singer; and the Hathaway quartet.

Performances will be given every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

on Brown MacNamara as usual charmed her audience with her singing of illustrated songs, the audience joining in the chorus with great gusto. The pictures, six in number, were all new films and of a most interesting nature. The management makes a point to secure only the latest films and over these exercises a strict censorship lest offensive subjects get by. The entertaining and the instructive are to be found at the Academy show for the moving picture show has an instructive feature that is one of its best claims to popularity. The pictures for the remainder of the week are particularly attractive and must be seen to be appreciated as limited space forbids an attempt at describing them in detail. Two performances are given daily, from 1.45 to 5 and from 7 to 10. There is but one price of admission, ten cents admits to all and all seats are free. Children are admitted for five cents.

STAR THEATRE

"Saved By Love," a new talking picture, was presented for the first time, and new illustrated songs were sung this afternoon at the Star theatre. The talking picture is very interesting. "The Montana Schoolmar," "Mother-in-Law Breaks All Records," and "The Miniature Circus," are all excellent pictures. There will be a change of program tomorrow afternoon.

THEATRE LA SCALA

Today's offering at the Theatre La Scala will be sure to please, for it is an unusually strong show. "The Sergeant's Stripes" tells of a brave and fearless soldier who risks his life in the performance of his duty. "Drawing the Color Line" is a comedy with plenty of laughs and "The Sacrifice" will be sure to please. Miss Eugenie Fessler will sing "Come Kiss Your Mammy Good Night" during the late afternoon and evening performances.

There were flags of Juniper blue with the letters J. C. in gold on them. During intermission ice cream and cake were served by Caterer Henderson. The music furnished was by the Colonial orchestra. Out-of-town guests were present from Boston, Lynn, Lawrence and Exeter, N. H.

THE CITY LOSES.

MARY F. ROURKE GIVEN $1500 DAMAGES

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Judge Sanderson of the superior court yesterday found for the plaintiff for $1500 in the suit of Mary F. Rourke against the city of Boston. The action was for damages for personal injuries sustained in consequence of a ferryboat, which she was a passenger, running into the pier of the slip on the East Boston side.

The defence set up a unique point of law. John D. McLaughlin, assistant corporation counsel, asserted that the city was not liable for the negligence of the engineer of the boat which caused the accident, for the reason that he was a civil service appointee and was not an employee of the city. He contended that the city could not remove him, and had to hire him, as he was given to it by the civil service commissioners. The city had no control over him, and through legislative action, creating the civil service system, he was an employee of the system, and if the latter could be sued, then it would be liable, but the city was not liable.

Counsel for the plaintiff maintained that the engineer was an employee of the city, for whose negligence it was liable. Judge Sanderson found in favor of the plaintiff, but the law department of the city intends to take the case to the supreme court to have the exact status of a civil service employee with respect to his relations to the city determined. Mr. McLaughlin cited authorities where the supreme court had held that a civil service appointee was in the public service.

CHILD SACRIFICE

Said to be Practiced in

Davao

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Little children are sacrificed to heathen gods in lands under the jurisdiction of the American government and under the protection of the American flag. By indirect ways there comes from the Philippines a trickling stream of tragic stories. Some of these grim little tragedies are almost unbelievable.

Under date of Dec. 20, 1907, the governor of Davao reported a rumor of a human sacrifice having been made by some of the people of the tribe of Tagabos, living in a settlement called Talon, near Digos, on December 9, 1907. He was at once directed to make an investigation and full report. Now, this is part of the story of Allen Walker, district governor of Davao, and his senior inspector of constabulary.

Two widows, Addy and Obby, went to Davao and requested that he arrange a sacrifice to appease the spirits of their departed husbands, which were bothering them. Ansing called a meeting of the old men. Four then set out to find a slave for sacrifice.

Ansing, a henchman of Davao, purchased from Bagobo Ido a Filipino slave boy, named Saemai, about 8 years old, and who was deaf and cross-eyed, and had other defects of vision, making him of little or no value as a laborer.

After certain preliminaries the boy, Saemai, was brought forward, placed against a small tree about six feet high, his hands tied above his head, and his body tied to the tree with bejuno strips at the waist and knees. Ansing then placed a spear at the child's right side at a point below the right arm, and above the margin of the ribs. The lance was grasped by the widows. Addy and Obby, who at a signal from Ansing, forced it through the child's body, it coming out at the other side. It was immediately withdrawn and the body cut in two at the waist by bolts in the hands of Justo Barroco and Obay, after which the body was placed on a chair and chopped into bits by people present, each of whom was allowed to take a small portion as a memento of the occasion, the remainder of the body being buried in a hole prepared for it.

"Datu Ansing, a man about 60 years of age, says that in his life he has attended or officiated at 50 human sacrifices, more or less."

At the regular session of the court of first instance, held in Davao, the parties concerned were brought to trial. The court sentenced the guilty parties to long terms of imprisonment, and then, upon the solemn promise of the tribe not to be guilty in the future of such a deed, the operation of the sentence was suspended so long as this pledge should be fulfilled.

ON "MOTHERHOOD" BOARD OF TRADE

Archbishop O'Connell Spoke to Held Its Annual Meeting and Supper Last Evening

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Archbishop W. I. O'Connell yesterday spoke at a gathering of mothers of the South End at the Guild of St. Elizabeth, 111 Elizabeth street, East Springfield street, the occasion was the monthly "motherhood" held by the officers of the Guild, who are Boston society women prominent in philanthropic work. There was an unusually large attendance to hear the archbishop. He dwelt on the great influence exerted by Christianity through the motherhood of Mary in elevating the dignity of motherhood. He spoke of the duties of the Christian mother and told of the great powers which love and patience exert in bringing up a child. He paid a high tribute to the work done by the Guild of St. Elizabeth.

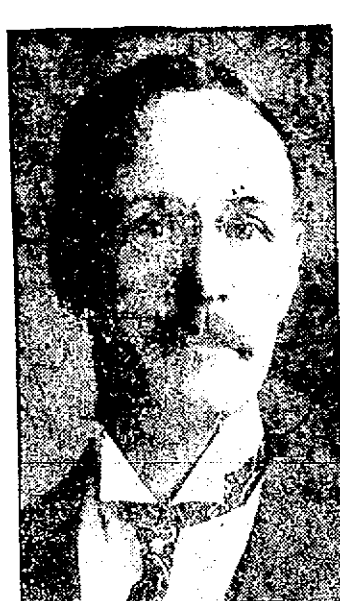

In the care of the Guild is a number of children. Classes in various branches, such as sewing and geography, are carried on, and numerous charitable works performed. The officers are: President, Mrs. Warren M. Rockwell; secretary, Miss Mary Josephine Blake; treasurer, Miss Mary Josephine Blake; director, Mrs. Thomas H. Haney. Assisting in entertaining yesterday were Mrs. J. W. Hinckley, Rockwell, Misses Marie Blake, Alice Rockwell, Gertrude Harkness, Gertrude Corcoran, Marie Thompson, Louise Fitzgerald and Marie Egan.

The archbishop said in part: "For a long time I have wanted to come to this Guild, and were it not that other duties have prevented I would have been here before today. I feel that the love of Mary has done much to make the modern world beautiful. Before her, motherhood was a great care and burden, and but little honor. Before Christ the great honor of motherhood was but badly understood. Left to itself, the human mind wandered into very shallow waters and muddy pools. But when Mary became mother of God, all motherhood became elevated into queenhood. Then the rights and powers of motherhood began to be understood and the sanctity of the home began to be respected.

"Never forget your duties as Christian mothers. Never forget that the child of a Christian mother is to become, by baptism and by the training and religious principles it receives, a prince of Jesus. If each Christian mother does her duty, then the world will continually grow better.

"It is out of the ranks of the poor that the great men of the world come. They are the men who bring the true nobility of the earth—nobility of mind and of the soul—up to the topmost ranks. It is the Catholic mother who has the true ideal of motherhood. While others are trying to barter their sons into some business that will make his life in the world easy, no matter at what cost to the soul, the Catholic mother feels that her child is the child of God and is to be a prince of Christ's kingdom. So she strives to bring up her child as the church directs. The task may be hard, but we must be patient and kind. Learning depends largely upon good will. A teacher must open up a road to the child's affection. Otherwise the child will be naïve and stubborn. Teach by love, by faith and by religion.

"The attitude of Christian mothers should be one of happiness. You know how hard life is if we look on the gloomy side. Those who do this always find life miserable. Our religion is one that should make us happy. Let nothing discourage you. Let nothing make you forget that God is with you."

Banquet Served and Officers Elected — Interesting Reports of Officers and Various Committees Submitted

The annual meeting of the board of trade was held at Harrington hall, last evening, with an attendance of over 200 members. Preceding the business meeting, a banquet was served by the Page company, and President Henry A. Smith occupied the chair. The reports of the president and secretary were read and accepted, and then the annual election of officers took place with the following result:

President, Henry A. Smith; first vice president, Milo D. Clay; second vice president, James O'Sullivan; third vice president, Albert L. Paul; secretary, John A. McKenna; treasurer, Harvey E. Greene; auditor, Wm. F. Hills.

Directors, Henry A. Smith, Hon. Geo. H. Shepard, Charles E. Adams, Jesse H. Shepard, Charles H. Cornett, Esq., Eliza J. Neale, Alonzo G. Walsh, Louis A. Olney, William Cogger, George M. Harrigan, C. Marshall Forest, Daniel F. Carroll, Harry L. Stanley, Patrick O'Hearn, Frederick A. Fisher, Philip S. Madden, Norman E. Borden, Arthur J. Gray, John O. Heiney, Fred C. Garrett, George D. Hawley, Bartholomew Scamwell, Jr., Moses Marks, John A. Hunnewell, Jr., Arthur A. E. Rhodes, George Courtois and Frank Ricard.

On Charter Revision

For the committee on charter revision Judge Frederick A. Fisher reported that the committee proposed to offer an amendment to the present charter to the legislature at this session. The amendment, the speaker said, asked for changes which would conform in many respects to the charter in vogue at the present time in Haverhill, especially that portion in relation to election. It asked for primaries without party lines and the nomination of two candidates for each office, the elimination of the common council; the election of nine members of the board of aldermen, three members to be elected each year; the formation of a school board of five members, and other changes.

As to the power to be vested in the mayor, the chairman was not in position to state just what would be asked other than that the amendment would ask for additional power over what is at present given.

Judge Fisher announced that the committee will have completed its work before the close of the week and the petition will then be ready for the legislature.

C. H. Conant made an encouraging report for the committee on postal affairs and Milo D. Clay for the membership committee reported 24 new members making the total membership 534. James O'Sullivan of the committee on transportation reported that much had been accomplished, and promised even better results next year.

For the city beautiful committee, Harvey E. Greene spoke of the crusade against bill board advertising, particularly in the vicinity of the depot and the memorial for the forest preservation and factory location committees. Messrs. James J. McManis and Patrick O'Hearn reported briefly.

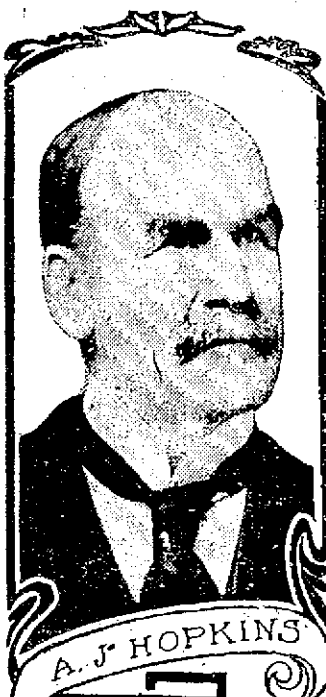

Under the head of new business, Mr. McManis spoke of the necessity of the establishment of a state highway between Lowell and Lawrence, or the connecting link in the state highway between Manchester, N. H. to the city. The secretary was instructed to notify the proper authorities of Essex county for the purpose of furthering the proposition.

Jesse H. Shepard, referring to a proposition to modify the present better roads, asked that any modification would be unwise and the city endorsed his report. For the committee on manufacturing he approved the idea of asking all dealers to remove their trade signs in preference to other places.

For the betterment committee, President Smith reported that a number of speakers would be secured for the banquet in February.

Pres. Smith Reports

President Smith's report was a comprehensive and a most interesting account of the work of the board of trade during the past year. It was as follows: "The board of trade, manufacturing, water, and other departments, committees and sub-committees, under general conditions the following progress was made during the past year: A fair treatment of all home concerns

SENT TO PRISON THE DEADLOCK

Ward Gets From Four to Six Years In Election of Senator From Illinois

LAWRENCE, Jan. 21.—Everett Ward, 36 years old, convicted of breaking and entering the store of Felix G. Hays in Ballardvale, was sentenced by Judge Stevens in superior court yesterday to not less than four and not more than six years in state prison. The court expressed regret to send so young a man to state prison, but he felt that he must do so, especially as Ward had not at first told the truth regarding his past life.

James A. Higgins, convicted of maintaining a disorderly house in Methuen, was sentenced to two and a half years in the house of correction. His wife, Grace M. Higgins, who had pleaded guilty and sought to screen her husband on the stand, was sent to the house of correction.

Joseph Assant pleaded guilty to felonious assault and was sentenced to three years.

Joseph Green admitted his guilt of two counts of breaking and entering. Sentence was deferred.

The greater part of the day's session was taken up with the trial of Joseph Nisido of Haverhill, charged with assault to murder Raphael Piccarollo. The alleged shooting occurred after a christening which the two men had attended. The case was unfinished at adjournment.

SENATOR PLATT HAS ASKED FOR A NEW TRIAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Through his counsel yesterday, before the appellate division of the supreme court, Senator Thomas C. Platt disclaimed all responsibility for the death contracted by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Jane Platt, from whom he separated in 1906, and sought to have a judgment of the lower courts reversed, which condemned him to pay to an assignee $2411 as part of his debts.

In arguing for a reversal of this judgment and the granting of a new trial, counsel for Senator Platt declared that in consideration of the withdrawal by Mrs. Platt of an action for absolute divorce instituted by her, the senator agreed to turn over to her attorneys the sum of $25,000, out of which all claims against him were to be satisfied. The contention of the other side is that the person who paid the $25,000, amounting to $357 were not included in the $25,000.

In his motion before the court yesterday, Senator Platt averred that he had never agreed to settle any bills for Mrs. Platt, and that the $25,000 paid over by him to her attorneys represented the total extent of his obligation. Decision was reserved.

KELLEHER CASE CHEMICAL ANALYSIS WILL TAKE A FORTNIGHT

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—Lieut. Eugene A. Carter of the Somerville police, who is making an investigation of the six deaths in the family of Mrs. Mary Kelleher within the last two years, said yesterday it would be two weeks before any report of the analysis of the viscera of the three bodies exhumed last week would be made by Prof. William P. Whitney of the Harvard medical school.

Dist. Atty. Higgins denied that the exhuming of the three bodies was an indication that poison had been found in the body of Miss Catherine Kelleher. He said even if no poison was found in Catherine's body the charges might be made that there was poison in the other bodies and that the only way to clear up the whole case was to have the bodies exhumed.

Medical examiners Swan of Cambridge and Durrell of Somerville denied that any report of the analysis of any of the bodies had been received.

SUPT. GAY

PROTESTED AGAINST ACTION OF SCHOOL BOARD

HAVERHILL, Jan. 21.—The school board changed its attitude on the teachers' question last night when, instead of a recorded motion that eight of the poorest be dropped, the superintendent was instructed to notify those teachers whose services would not be required by reason of a readjustment of grades, not to report back after the February vacation.

Supt. Gay protested the fixing of the responsibility on his shoulders and in his argument claimed that he thought it must require him to be the one who would have to make vacancies. The board remained firm, however, and the superintendent will have to do the picking.

He declared that if the board made him a real superintendent he would produce 20 per cent. greater efficiency at a 20 per cent. less cost and Mayer Moulton, who presided, took him at his word, but there was no immediate action.

At the opening of the session Mayor Moulton declared that as mayor of the city and chairman of the board, he would have a decision as to whether the city was paying $1 or 50 cents for gas and all bills which came in at the $1 rate were approved only on the $1 rate and the matter will be tested again in the courts.

NIGHT EDITION

NORMAL SCHOOL

There is no Danger of its Discontinuance

Chairman Aldrich of State Board of Education Was Misrepresented When Before Committee on Ways and Means — Lowell School Has Been a Complete Success

What appears to have been the effort of an industrious newspaper correspondent at the state house to furnish interesting reading for some of the papers on his list, is responsible for the rumor that someone in the legislature would do away with the State Normal school in this city.

From what the local members of the legislature could learn at the state house, there is no bottom to the movement, and none regrets the published articles in reference thereto more than Chairman Aldrich of the state board of education, who, it would appear, was misrepresented in the reports of his statements before the committee on ways and means of the legislature.

It appears that the committee on ways and means gave a hearing recently on the recommendation of the state board of education, that $25,015 be appropriated for the expenses of the Hyannis school, and in order to get full information about the school, sent for Chairman Aldrich of the state board.
He was asked to explain why the cost of the Hyannis school is so much greater than those in other parts of the state, notably that at Lowell, the figures for last year showing that the Hyannis school cost $520 per capita, while at Lowell the expense was only $21.

Mr. Aldrich explained that it took as many teachers to instruct in a certain number of courses in a school with a small attendance as it did in one with a larger attendance, and that the value of a school could not always be estimated by the per capita cost per pupil in attendance. Mr. Aldrich was quoted as saying that relative to the four schools established in 1887, "there was no reason for anyone, except possibly that at Fitchburg, and the others, he said, were established as the result of a legislative scramble; the state board of education had never recommended them, and did not feel disposed to. He was asked if the board had ever recommended their abolition, and said it had not, because it feels that having established these schools it is morally bound to continue them."

The above quotation misrepresents
Mr. Aldrich, who did not say that there was no reason for the establishment of the schools and who calls attention to the fact that the records of these schools since their establishment demonstrates that there was sufficient reason for their establishment. Furthermore in relation to the "legislative scramble" Mr. Aldrich wanted it understood that there was nothing inappropriate or improper in such "scramble" and that it was found that by establishing four instead of one all people and sections of the state were pleased. The fact that the state board of education did not recommend the schools should not give the impression that the state board did not want them established or that it believed them of less value than the older schools. It means that the state board did not take the initiative in the matter, the people themselves asked for the schools and the result of the agreement between the state and the people it became the board's duty to see that the state's part of the agreement was kept.

A reporter of The Sun sought an interview with Principal Durgin of the Normal school but the latter referred him to the state board of education.
From the talk about town it is very evident that only the slightest indication of a movement to do away with the Lowell Normal school would be followed by a storm of opposition such as the legislature has seldom seen.
The Lowell school is but 10 years old, but at the close of the year had a larger attendance than the Worcester school which is 30 years old. In the 10 years of its existence the Lowell school has graduated 600 teachers which fact alone is a sufficient warrant for its continued existence. Of the schools established in 1887 Hyannis in December, 1907, had 43 pupils, North Adams, 81,
Lowell, 149, showing that the Lowell institution outstripped the others in growth. The attendances in all the Normal schools of the state Dec.
1907 were as follows: Normal art. 348;
Bridgewater, 270; Framingham, 242;
Fitchburg, 171; Salem, 160; Lowell,
149; Westfield, 147; Worcester, 112;
North Adams, 81; Hyannis, 43.

SINGLE POLICE HEAD

Provided for in Bill Before the Legislature

A License Board to Consist of Three Members — Power of Appointment is Vested in the Mayor — Bill Does Not Take Effect Until it Has Been Approved by the People — Salaries of the License Commissioners Are Reduced

Representative John F. Meehan today introduced in the state legislature a bill which if passed and accepted by the people, will separate the police and licensing boards of this city. The bill provides for a license board of three members and a single police commissioner. The salary of the chairman of the license board is reduced to $600 and that of the other two members to $500 each. The salary of the police commissioner is fixed at $1000 a year.
The first appointees to the license board will serve for terms of one, two and three years respectively, and the bill does not take effect until 1910. Before becoming a law it must be ratified by the voters at the state election to be held this year. The measure is signed by both Rep. Meehan and

Rep. Conley and they feel confident that it will meet with approval of the legislature. According to the bill the appointment of the license commissioners and the police commissioner rests with the mayor of the city of Lowell.

The Bill

The text of the bill is as follows:
An Act to Provide for the Appointment of a Licensing Board and a Police Commissioner for the City of Lowell.
Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. The mayor shall appoint from the two principal parties three citizens of Lowell, who shall have resided therein for at least two years immediately preceding the date of their appointment, who shall constitute a licensing board for said city and who

FLORISTS' BILL

Hon. Jos. H. Hibbard Will Present it Tomorrow

Senator Hibbard will introduce in the senate tomorrow a bill accompanied by a petition from Lowell for a law permitting florists to deliver flowers for funerals, churches, etc., on Sunday mornings up to 11 o'clock. The bill is the outcome of the recent edict of the police department compelling the florists to close on Sundays and from the fact that it is introduced it would appear that the police were right in their contention despite its unpopularity.

IT COST $15,000

For the Service of Private Detectives

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The services of Brown & Baldwin, the private detectives who were paid $15,000 for their work in following up the members of the discharged battalion of the twenty-fifth and secured a "confession" from Boyd Conyers, one of the number, have been dispensed with. The war department has not abandoned its efforts to secure evidence as to the identity of the men who did the shooting but has practically decided that private detectives have accomplished all that can be expected of them.

RACE TRACK MESSAGE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A subcommittee of the senate committee on the judiciary heard Senator Burkett, former Senator Blair and others in support of Mr. Burkett's bill prohibiting the sending of interstate race track gambling messages. They continued for the constitutionality of the bill.

BIG LIBEL SUIT

Against Sunday Telegram, Sunday Post and Prince & Son

John H. Harrington, Proprietor
of The Lowell Sun, Brings Suit
Against All Three as Co-defendants in an Action for Libel
—Articles Were Published in Sunday and Daily Telegram and are Quite Numerous, Covering
Period of Two Years—New Law
Point to be Raised

Mr. John H. Harrington, proprietor of The Lowell Sun, through his counsel, Messrs. F. W. & S. E. Uga, commenced a joint suit this forenoon
against the Post Publishing company
of Boston, publishers of the Boston
Sunday Post, Dennis A. Long, publisher of The Lowell Sunday Telegram and
G. C. Prince & Son, local news agents,
as co-defendants in an action for libel.

The articles which the plaintiff alleges to be false, malicious and dangerous, appeared in The Sunday Telegram from time to time during the past two years, and are quite numerous. The suit against the Post Publishing Co. is brought on the ground that the Boston Sunday Post and The Sunday Telegram are published as a combination
paper in the city of Lowell, that they are circulated and sold invariably as a single publication and not separately.
This, the plaintiff alleges is done with
the full knowledge, consent and agreement of the publishers of both papers,
that both divide the profits of these
sales and are, therefore, jointly and severally liable for any libelous or damaging articles appearing in any part, section or supplement of the combination paper.

The action against G. C. Prince & Son is brought on the ground that as news agents, under the direction of
both publishers, and for their joint account, the said G. C. Prince & Son
combined, inserted, circulated and sold this combination Sunday newspaper as a single publication, containing false,
malicious and damaging statements concerning the plaintiff, and that they are therefore liable under the law.

Property recorded in the name of D. A. Long and Mary A. Long, wife of the defendant, is attached to secure payment of judgment; the plaintiff claiming that all the property in reality belongs to the said
D. A. Long. Both attachments were recorded at the court house this morning.

The suit against the combined Sunday papers will be watched with interest by all newspaper publishers as well as the general public, inasmuch as it raises for the first time the question of the joint and several liability of publishers for any libelous articles appearing in any part, section or supplement of a combination of newspapers sold as a single publication, whether the parts, sections or supplements were printed in their own offices or not.

WANT LICENSES

Many Persons Apply for Common
Victuallers' Permits

Since the board of police put the bid on Sunday selling, the office of the board has been besieged by people who want to secure common victual-ler's licenses and Clerk Faherty is up to his neck in business.
Last Tuesday night the board granted 25 common victuallers' licenses, and since Tuesday about fifty more applications have been made.
With a common victuallers' license
the holder is allowed to serve food, sell cigars, tobacco, confectionery, ice cream and soda water. Regular newsdealers on Sundays.

WAS BADLY BURNED

Miss Doherty Injured at Moore
Mills Fire

Miss Mary Doherty, aged 34 years, residing at the Lane house, corner of Central and Church streets, was badly burned about the face in escaping from the fire that destroyed the George C.
Moore mills at North Chelmsford on Tuesday night.
Miss Doherty was employed on the top floor of the mill that was first attacked by the fire, and her first attempt to escape by jumping through a window was frustrated by a heavy curtain. She remembers having tried to jump away the curtain, but after that

6 O'CLOCK PRES.-ELECT TAFT

Talks of His Purposed Visit to the Isthmus of Panama

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 21.—After the talk in lighter vein had been disposed of and the hour of midnight had passed, President-elect Taft turned to more serious things before the conclusion of the big banquet held in his honor at the Terrace across the Savannah river from this city last night. He then devoted some time to a brief discussion of the Panama canal and the object of his coming visit to the isthmus. He said, "because there seemed to be a disposition in some quarters to misunderstand his visit, Congress, he said, had after due and careful consideration, settled the type of canal that should be built, and that it was his duty to make a case regarding which subsequent evidence has been discovered. He was going there to ascertain if subsequent evidence really existed as had been stated in some of the press of the country which would justify a change of plan. He was frank to admit that he did not believe such evidence existed. The great benefits of the canal were reviewed by Mr. Taft, which, he said, besides stimulating trade with South America, would double the effectiveness of our navy.

SPELLING MATCH

Feature of Sociable at No. Chelmsford

Last night in St. John's hall the members of the St. John's T. A. society challenged the members of the Ladies' auxiliary in a spelling match. President John E. Harrington was captain of the Young Men's society while Pres. Belle Valentine was captain of the young ladies' side. The captains had their choice from members of either societies. The match started at 8.30 and lasted until 10.30. Miss Loretta Ward held the boards for the St. John's society while Mary Robin and James P. Quigley led for the auxiliary. The contest closed in favor of the St. John's Ladies' Auxiliary. James P. Quigley being the winner of the individual prize. Vice Pres. John McQuade acted as professor of spelling. After the match ice cream and cake were served and general dancing enjoyed.

PANAMA LIBEL

GRAND JURY IS NOT IN SESSION TODAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Although the grand jury was not in session today, owing to some pressing business in court requiring the attention of District Attorney Barker, his assistants, as well as the department of justice officials, were active in preparing for the examination of other witnesses tomorrow in the Panama canal libel case. Their identity was not disclosed and the case continues to be one of mystery. Insofar as who the defendant or defendants will be, it is now known that the discovery yesterday that the Indianapolis News is not a corporation, but a private partnership, puts a different phase upon the inquiry affecting that publication and this is not borne out by the fact that although looks and papers were called for they were not presented. It remains strong that an indictment will be returned from this jurisdiction, but all efforts to obtain any information from the district attorney's office or the department of justice were in vain.

CONGRESS OF NAVIGATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Believing that the holding of the twelfth international congress of navigation in the United States in 1911 would bring good results, both industrially and commercially, the house committee on foreign affairs has reported favorably a resolution introduced by Rep. Moore of Pennsylvania, authorizing the secretary of state to invite the permanent international association of navigation congresses, of which the United States is a contributing member, to hold the congress in the United States. The resolution calls for the holding of the congress at Philadelphia.

DEATH PENALTY

IS AVERTED IN THE SHELLARD CASE

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Justice Crane, before whom David Shellard, a former Brooklyn politician, is being tried on the charge of murdering Barbara Reig last July, today ordered stricken out that part of the indictment against Shellard charging him with murder in the first degree. Only conviction of a lesser criminal offense is now possible. This averts the possibility of the death penalty.

U. S. SENATORS

FIND REVIVAL OF "WAHNETA" AND "KIKPOO" CLIQUES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—In an investigation of objections filed with the senate against the confirmation of Samuel B. Donnelly as public printer, the members of the senate committee on printing have discovered what appears to be a revival of the old "Wahnetas" and "Kikpoos" cliques within the ranks of the labor unions at the great printing establishments. These forces threatened to take part in the dispute which has been waged between employees of the printing office for a number of years to the great annoyance of the public printer. Members of the senate committee have determined not to take cognizance of the operations of these cliques and ignoring their activities have decided to again report the Donnelly nomination to the senate with a recommendation that it be confirmed.

A STRANGE CASE MARINE CORPS

Couple Sentenced to Penitentiary Should be Controlled by Navy Dept.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 21.—In the sentencing at Farnville, this state, of Marcus Lindsay and his wife, a negro, to serve 15 years in the penitentiary, one of the most extraordinary cases in the history of the state has developed. Lindsay is the son of a white woman and although he believed he had negro blood in his veins the court held that he had enough Caucasian blood to be legally white. Lindsay recently was married to a negro. The two were indicted, the law prohibiting intermarriages between the races. The judge decided, however, that while he was forced to pronounce sentence he would petition the governor to pardon the prisoners but upon condition that all marital relations between them should cease.

THE STATE TAX

RAISED FROM $500,000 TO $800,000 BY N. H. LEGISLATURE

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 21.—The New Hampshire legislature this noon rejected by acclamation Edward N. Benson, secretary of state, H. A. Carter, state treasurer, and Frank A. Hart, commissary general.

Bills were introduced repealing all standing appropriations, calling for estimates of expenses from all departments and raising the state tax for the present year from $500,000 to $800,000.

Benson of Concord introduced a bill for a million dollar bond issue, the proceeds to be expended upon the main highways from the southern boundary of the state to the White mountains.

IN EXPLOSION

Four Children Were Badly Burned

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 21.—Four children were burned, three fatally, today when one of them ignited three kegs of powder to see the "puff" at Stoughton, near here. The explosion also wrecked a large double frame house which took fire and threatened to cremate the children.

All of the children were terribly mutilated, two of them having their eyes burned out.

COCAINE LAW

HAS BEEN VIOLATED, SAYS STATE BOARD

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Recent evasions of the prohibitory cocaine law through selling the drug in "private houses and tenements" which are not included in the act are reported by the state board of health in its annual report of the legislature today and an amendment is suggested. A change in the law requiring the labelling of drugs and foods by substituting the word "quantity" of proportion of alcohol, morphine and other substances is also suggested.

CITY FINANCES

MAYOR McCLELLAN CALLED AS A WITNESS

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Mayor McClellan was called today for the first time as a witness before the legislative commission, which is investigating New York city's finances. Chairman Cassidy wanted his views as to the needs of the city. The mayor said that deficiencies in revenue had some times been made up by the issue of corporate stock. He would make it legally prohibitive, he declared, to employ such stock for improper purposes and have the legal uses stated in hard and fast terms.

THE PERSIAN SITUATION

LONDON, Jan. 21.—An outline of the Russian proposals for dealing with the Persian situation has been received by Great Britain but until the complete draft arrives the foreign office prefers to reserve its opinion of the efficacy of the measures proposed. There is reason, however, that the proposals do not suggest a conference between Great Britain, Russia and Persia.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The urgent deficiency appropriation bill was reported to the senate from the committee on appropriations. It carries $1,125,000. The committee struck out the house provision for an appropriation of $12,000 for the purchase of automobiles for the use of the president which was included on the expressed wish of President-elect Taft who prefers the auto to the horse.

GIVEN THEIR LIBERTY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 21.—The members of a local political club called Fedakirans which means "self sacrifice for the fatherland" who were arrested Jan. 12 charged with planning a demonstration hostile to the government were set at liberty today. The charges against them are declared to have been trumped up for political purposes and a reactionary proclamation, alleged to have been issued by the club, has been pronounced a forgery. This occurrence is the origin of the report of a conspiracy against the constitutional regime in Turkey sent out from Constantinople yesterday.

The Hellenic dramatic club, an organization of local Greek amateurs who are said by their fellow countrymen to be decidedly clever, will give a performance Sunday evening in the Academy of Music for the benefit of the Italian sufferers.

The local Greeks were ever prompt and generous in their contributions to a good cause and undoubtedly Sunday's performance will net a goodly sum.

MORE WEAVERS

Went on Strike at Salmon Falls

SALMON FALLS, Jan. 21.—The remaining looms in the cotton mills of the Salmon Falls Mfg. Co. were shut down today and the number of striking weavers was increased to 250. The mills can run only a few days longer without the weavers and then between 600 and 700 employees will be idle.

According to the union officials, many weavers have been receiving $4, $5 or $6 a week. They asked for $8 or $10 per week for these employees and an increase of 25 per cent on a certain cut of goods for which they have been paid 75 cents a cut. The company has guaranteed the employees that they would allow $9 for day work on their machines for six weeks, after which period the weavers must take wages according to their production. They also agreed to grant ten cents increase a cut. This offer has not been accepted.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—An important conference on the New Foundland fisheries was held at the state department today. It was participated in by Secretary Root, Ambassador Bryce and Messrs. Alsworth and Kent, ministers of justice from Canada and New Foundland respectively. The United States government is anxious for an early agreement so that the treaty may go to the senate for ratification at this session.

SHOT HIMSELF

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 21.—George Ossio, Jr., 16 years of age, son of a wealthy Spanish rancher at Iquique, Chile, a student at the Stamford academy, is in a critical condition at the local hospital suffering from a rifle wound accidentally self-inflicted, it is said, while he was out hunting yesterday with a schoolmate. An operation for the removal of the bullet has been performed, but the physicians hold out little hope for the boy's recovery.

BARLOW'S BILL

PRUDENTIAL COMPANY SHOWS TEN YEAR CASH VALUE LIMIT

The local agent of the Prudential Insurance company after reading the report in The Sun of Rep. Barlow's insurance bill seeks to make a correction to the effect that the Prudential company has recently made a rule to give a cash surrender at ten years, whereas Rep. Barlow's bill provides for a cash surrender at the expiration of ten years. Both Rep. Barlow and The Sun are pleased to learn that the company has reduced its time limit and The Sun makes haste to chronicle the fact, but the domestic companies under the law are required to furnish a cash value at the expiration of three years and Rep. Barlow hopes to get through a law that will make not only the Prudential but all foreign insurance companies come to an equal footing with the domestic companies.

PUBLIC MEETING

Held by the Butchers and Grocers Association

D. C. Palmer, of Boston, deputy inspector of weights and measures, read an interesting paper on "Weights and Measures" at a meeting of the Butchers and Grocers Association held in Odd Fellows temple, Middlesex street, last evening. There was a fairly good attendance and great attention was paid to what Mr. Palmer had to say.

President Edward Fitzpatrick was in the chair and he introduced as the first speaker, Mayor Brown, who made a brief address that had to do with the enforcement of the law.

Mr. Palmer was next introduced. He said that Massachusetts was one

EDWARD FITZPATRICK,
President Butchers and Grocers Association

of the first states in the Union to receive acts from the national government relative to the standard of weights and measures.

In 1895, conditions having changed rapidly in recent decades, a state inspection was made. New legislation was enacted in that year and an aggressive campaign in the cities and towns throughout the state was begun. At first it seemed as if the task was a hopeless one. At last reform came and sealers of weights and measures showed that they could do what was expected of them. In 1907 the work of this department had increased to such an extent that Gov. Gould appointed a commission.

In many cities and towns the sealers had been lax in their duties. Such careless officials had proven a great detriment to the proper workings of the department. There were great losses not only to the purchasers of goods but also to the dealers. Scales had been found which were not always "fast." In some instances they had proven to be "slow." In cities where the system is excellent, attempts are still being made to doctor weights and measures. If one is a housekeeper she should know what she is getting, and if one is a dealer he should also be protected against the infringement of the laws by some dishonest competitor.

The enforcement of the laws relating to standard weights and measures touches every human being in some form every day in the year. Mr. Palmer referred to ice scales which were sealed once annually, and to custom of weighing the tongue with the ice. He cited instances of hawkers and peddlers who had several sets of scales and measures. The sealed set they always carried with them in case their scales were demanded. The other set or sets were often used. Seventy-five per cent. of the prosecutions made in the state had been among hawkers and peddlers. Strawberry boxes came in for a lot of criticism. Some were found to hold 25 per cent. less than is required by law. Cranberries, beans and peanuts are often sold, he said, by the liquid rather than by the dry measure. Short weight in coal was spoken of. One instance was cited in which the shortage had proven to be 100 pounds in three-ton lots.

Creamery and print butter was often found to be of short weight. Five pound boxes were often weighed and found to total up five pounds, box and all, according to food stuffs he said that as the law now is the merchant who sells manufactured articles under weight is liable to prosecution, while the manufacturer is innocent. A bill was introduced in the last session of congress to remedy this. The manufacturers fought it, however, and it was defeated, although the committee had reported favorably on it. In conclusion Mr. Palmer showed scales and measures which had been seized and which showed the cunning shown by dishonest dealers in an attempt to violate the law without detection.

Other speakers included David G. Gorman, president of the state association of grocers and butchers and lawyers James E. O'Donnell and Stanley B. Qua.

SENATOR SHAW THE DUNBAR CO.

Wants People to Name U. S. Senators Gave a Fine Concert Program

BOSTON, Jan. 21.—A bill for the direct nomination of United States senators was filed yesterday afternoon by Senator Shaw of Manchester. The bill contains provision for a referendum, and is to be submitted to the voters next fall if it passes the legislature and is signed by the governor.

New features of the measure are intended to overcome the weak spots in laws of the same kind adopted by other states. The latest of these developed in Oregon, the law of which was used as a copy for the bill, and Senator Shaw claims to have evaded the possibility of such objections as preceded the election of Senator Chamberlain by so wording his measure that no legislator may be charged with bad faith if he should vote for his party candidate for United States senator, even though the candidate of the opposition might secure a majority of the votes cast in the election.

An excellent entertainment was given in the First Congregational church last night by the Dunbar concert company, the affair being one of the entertainments in the Young Men's Christian Association star course.

The company is composed of Ralph Dunbar, first tenor and cellist; Albest Munde, second tenor and pianist; Harry Dunbar, baritone and leader; J. L. Felgar, basso.

A feature of the entertainment was the bell ringing in which some excellent selections were rendered, including "The Gondoliers," from Nevins' Venetian Suite, and the variations on Jessie Gaynor's "Slumber Boat." The Portu-guese Hymn and Adeste Fideles were also among the most attractive of their selections.

Among the quartet numbers were Tennyson's bugle song with a familiar musical setting, and a variety of humorous selections. Of the latter, their imitable grand opera burlesque was perhaps the most popular, though the story of Adam and Eve and the apple, in dainty dialect, aroused peals of laughter.

Not by any means least in importance, in a program of general excellence, were the "colts" soloed by Mr. Ralph Dunbar, who handles his instrument with the skill of a master.

DIAMOND NOTES

The Philadelphia Nationals have refused to waive claim to Jack Hannifan and will take the former New York and Boston player.

As the Highlanders are to open the season against Washington, it probably they are to go against Walter Johnson and eight assistants and try to avoid a shutout.

It is said that Jiggs Donahue is not at all sure of being retained as the White Sox first baseman another season and that if Comiskey puts him on the market McAlister will gobble him.

"I do not agree with the idea that the influence of summer baseball is bad for university men," said Dr. Hutchins, University of Wisconsin physical director. "I have a keen respect for baseball as it is played. I have observed that the men who play the game are more orderly than those who follow it. There is more rowdiness in the grand stand and the bleachers than on the field."

Evans has signed to umpire in the American league again, which is well. Evans has improved immensely and came to be one of the best of umpires.

Outfielders who are arranging Stallings team for him next season are taking no account of Charlie Hemphill, leading batsman for the Hilltoppers last season. It may be that Stallings will think it a good plan to sandwich a veteran in among his young outfielders for steadying purposes.

It begins to look as though Boston would be in the Tri-State league of baseball clubs this coming season. Prof. Charles S. Ketchner of the faculty of Alhight College, Meyerstown, who played baseball while at Lafayette in the class of 1898 and is an honorary member of the Tri-State league, was there yesterday conferring with D. F. Ballentine, desiring Easton to take the place of Wilmington, who has withdrawn. Baseball fans are very favorable to the suggestion.

All American league clubs except St. Louis have waived on Jake Stahl.

Kohle Miller has signed to manage and play second base for Easton in the Atlantic league.

Patsy Donovan is making a stab at getting a franchise in the New England league for Salem.

Frank Eastley, who finished last year as manager of the McKeessport team, has signed with San Francisco for the coming season and will report next month.

"Rub" Witherup, drafted from Des Moines by Washington, does not like the figures in the contract sent to him by Cantillon and has returned the document unsigned.

All the guesses on the line-up of the Pirates for the coming season put Alan Storke at first base. As a matter of fact Storke may not wear a Pittsburgh uniform at all next year.

President Harry Phillips sent Joe Kelley a telegram wishing him good luck in his future management and congratulating him for settling the matter outside of the courts.

William J. Moriarty, who jumped the San Francisco club two years ago and who has played since with the Stockton club (outlaws), has asked the national board to reinstate him.

Frank Staughness, formerly an outfielder in the Philadelphia and Washington teams of the American league, is to manage the team at Roanoke in the Virginia State league next season and play outfield.

Frank Seale, the famous manager of the old Boston, who is forced to live in Denver because of his health, has bought a large hotel, and he is said to be doing a big business right off the reel.

Catcher Holmes, who was injured in Birmingham last season and was given freedom by the club, has signed a contract with Zanesville for next season. Holmes was formerly with the Cardinals and with the Hoosiers.

Taking it for granted that Jack Hayden will be sent back to the minors, some of the St. Louis scribes are suggesting that the Cardinals get him. Charlie Murphy will not "can" Hayden till he has shown that he is inferior to young Miller.

"I have no sympathy with the average hoodlum in baseball," says Manager Griffith. "A ball player who thinks he is going to lose a game just because he happens to see a load of hay on its way to the park must be a little shy on nerve."

As a result of having one of his feet frozen while attending a funeral some time ago, Harry Schladef is compelled to use a crutch in walking. Schladef is signed to play with Newark of the Eastern league. Last season he was manager of the Toronto team.

The Red Sox certainly drew the prize plum in the opening game of the American league. A record breaking attendance will be on hand at Connie Mack's new $1,000,000 ball park.

Through an arrangement made with the management of the St. Paul team, the American association of the west will train with the Red Sox at the latter's training camp at Hot Springs, Ark.

McGraw is already looking for bets on the season of 1909. He offers to wager $10,000 or any part of it, that the Giants win the pennant.

Roger Bresnahan has just recovered from a severe attack of pneumonia.

At Marquette, Mich., a half-breed by the name of Dixon, one of the cleverest rascals in the state, has just been sentenced to state prison for a term of two years.

Jack Hays will thus have a chance to show his old teammates how he shapes up.

Nearly a score of minor league players are to make their second entry into the majors this coming season.

The re-entrance of this aggregation will somewhat atone for the passing of Jack Warner, Jimmy Collins, Socks Seybold, Jack O'Connor and other old stand-bys.

A brother of Roger Bresnahan is scheduled to get a tryout with the Giants. So New York will still have its Bresnahan.

Barney Dreyfuss, the supposed owner of the Pittsburgh club, is quoted as saying at a banquet held by baseball fans in Cleveland that had it not been for the opposition of C. C. Pulliam in 1902 he would have "jumped" his club into the American league.

Those who were in touch with American league affairs at that time will recall the fact that Ron Johnson and his fellow promoters did not want to have Dreyfuss and them under any circumstances.

It has been suggested that the National league should appoint Pop Anson to the position of "supervisor of umpires" at a salary of $1500 a year. Harry Wright and John B. Day held such a berth at different times, but it is regarded as doubtful if Anson would accept an offer of this kind.

The veteran baseball leader has always been opposed to being known as a pensioner and has never had much use for the liberality of the magnates. He will run a semi-professional ball club known as Anson's Colts this year and expects to get on his feet before the snow flies again next fall.

It was learned up in Chicago lately that "Jiggs" Donahue's job with Com-iskey's White Sox is not at all secure for another season. Comiskey is liable to throw this star first sacker on the market before spring and if he even breathes of such a threat Jimmy McAlister will pounce upon him in a jiffy.

Donahue had a bad year last season. It was the first time he ever had a bad year. But it wasn't entirely his fault. About the first week of July he sprained his ankle about in Washington and went about on crutches for a week or two.

This kept him out of the game for several weeks and during that time the first base job was held down by old Frank Isbell and big "Jawn" Anderson. Both of these players were slugging the ball numerously and when "Jiggs" was able to get in the game he couldn't stick because he wasn't hitting the ball.

Sitting on the bench was anything but agreeable to Donahue, and there arose ill-feeling between him and Fielder Jones, the leader of the club. Jones is the quietest manager in the business anyway, and seldom talks to a player unless there is a reason, and he could see no reason for arguing with Donahue over the question of playing first base.

Fielder Jones had decided Isbell or Anderson would be more serviceable to the club and simply turned his back on Donahue, leaving him sitting gloomily on the bench.

Donahue is now dissatisfied, and so is Jones, and there is a possibility he will be traded if Comiskey could secure some good pitching strength, in exchange. A change of scene for "Jiggs" would revive all that wonderful fire he showed in the seasons of 1906 and 1907, when nearly every critic in the country awarded him first place among the first basemen of the country. "Jiggs" was in St. Louis in 1902 as a "kid" catcher. Doubtless he would not object to returning as a star first baseman.

"What is the reason left-hand batters don't hit so hard as successfully hit left-hand pitchers, one often hears asked, says Addie Joss, the Cleveland pitcher.

After seeing a few of the star southpaws working against a club of left-hand hitters, it is plain why this question so often comes up.

As a left-hand pitcher invariably makes the left-hand batter look like he was tied to a post.

There are two explanations for this. One is because no club has more than two southpaws who are worked regularly on its pay roll, while most of them have only one, and some of them have none at all.

This gives the left-hand batter but little chance to hit against a side-wheeler. That is, he sees one about every four days, and sometimes not so often.

Not having much of a chance to hit against this style of pitching, it is only natural that when an off-side stickler does get a crack at a left-hander he is lost.

When facing a right-hand twirler the left-hand batter has the advantage in knowing that every time the finger breaks up a curve ball it is going to break in toward him. With a southpaw in, the reverse is the case.

One thing every batter does, and an act which is perfectly natural, is to pull a little as soon as the pitcher starts to deliver the ball.

By the time a right stepping back just a little, so that in case the ball is in close the batter can back and hit, or he can step aside and let it go without being hit by the ball.

With a left-hand pitcher on the slab one whose curve ball, instead of breaking up a left-hand batter, breaks into a curve away from him, this act of pulling just about ruins his chances of ever hitting this sort of ball successfully.

Any time a southpaw can keep his curve ball low and over the outside corner of the plate, to a left-hand hitter, it's a pretty tough job for the man at the plate to get many drives into safe territory.

There are a few port-side batters who can hit the southpaw successfully. Matty McIntyre of the Tigers hits them just as hard as he does the right-hand fingers.

BOXING GOSSIP

The first bout on the probable match between Jeffries and Johnson has been registered in Memphis with James Kinnane, the founder of the Phoenix Athletic club, laying even money that the champion will not stay ten rounds with Jeffries. If they meet Kinnane figures that Johnson will quit and explains his opinion by incidents he says he witnessed when Johnson was fighting in the south seven years ago. On that occasion Bobby Dobbs, then a lightweight, sparred several times in private with Johnson, and Kinnane says he saw Dobbs make his heavier opponent quit on three occasions.

Joe Woodman, manager of Sam Langford, claims to have received a cablegram from "Peggy" Bettinson of the National Sporting club, London, stating that transportation and funds for expenses were now on the way to this country for Sam Langford to visit England in about three weeks. Langford, 24, unless some of the promoters out on the Pacific coast get busy, it looks as if the two colored men will meet on the other side of the big pond.

Battling Nelson will be a member of President Roosevelt's hunting expedition, and will leave with him early in the spring for Africa.

This was the statement made by the lightweight champion just before boarding a train for Ashland, Ky., where he will begin a series of "one night" theatrical performances, doing a monologue and boxing stunts.

"Yes, we talked it all over when I was in Washington last week," declared the prize of Heccey. "We had been discussing hunting in the west and I told him about some of the shooting I had done and he asked me to go with him on his hunt next summer."

Of course I had read a good deal about it in the newspapers, and I promised him that and there I would be with him."

It was said by several theatrical men in New York yesterday that Jeffries had signed a contract for ten weeks to appear at the different Louisville houses in Greater New York at a salary of $5000 a week. Joe Maxwell, it was said, had signed the contract in behalf of the big pugilist, who will arrive in New York in about three weeks with Sam Berger, Billy Delaney and a retinue of camp followers. Word was also received from England yesterday that Jack Johnson will open at London theaters on February 5 and that his engagements on the other side will not end before September. This is taken to mean that if Jeffries and Johnson are matched they will not enter the ring before next October. It is the general opinion, too, that the fight will take place in California, Calif., under the management of James Coffey, who says he will outfit any other promoter to secure the mill. What may be the first bout on the Jeffries-Johnson battle has been recorded in Memphis. James Kinnane, a well known sporting man of that city, has laid even money for $1000 that Johnson will not stay ten rounds in the event of a battle scheduled to go 25 rounds or less.

WATER BOARD MET

And Elected Clerk to Succeed Mr. Worthen

H. G. Pillsbury, the New Clerk, Transferred From Assessors' Office Through the Republican Members

At a special meeting of the water board held last evening, Hazen G. Pillsbury, now employed in the assessors' office, was elected to fill the position of service clerk in the water department, made vacant by Mr. George Worthen's removal to the state aid department. Mr. Pillsbury's salary will be $300 a year. The board also increased the pay of its clerk, an increase brought about by the resignation of Miss Egan. Miss Julia J. Harter was advanced to Miss Egan's position and was given Miss Egan's salary of $1 a week, which means an advance of $1 a week for Miss Harter. Miss Alice T. McCarthy was advanced to Miss Harter's position, an increase in salary for Miss McCarthy of $1 a week.

President Crowley called to order shortly after eight o'clock and the board proceeded immediately to the election of a service clerk.

Mr. Robert W. Van Tassel was the man who offered the name of Hazen G. Pillsbury and he made special request of his republican brethren on the board to vote for him. He said that Mr. Pillsbury was a clean young fellow and would be a good man for the position.

President Crowley reiterated his statement of Tuesday night and contended that the department could and should save the salary of one clerk. He said that men in the department could be transferred so as to obviate the necessity of calling on the civil service list. It was an opportunity for the board to economize and it was up to the board to do it.

Mr. Van Tassel said he was anxious to save money and he believed that the men spoken of for transfer, were just what the president of the board represented them to be, good, faithful and efficient men, but he believed that the position of service clerk should be filled and by some one outside of the department. Mr. Van Tassel made quite a little speech in which he eulogized the president of the board and said things about himself from the political point of view.

Mr. Van Tassel said he had not moved one way or the other by politics since he first took position on the board. "I voted for Mr. Crowley for chairman of this board," said Mr. Van Tassel, "because I knew he was the ablest, most capable and best fitted man for that position. I thought so then and I think so now. Republican friends criticized me for voting for Mr. Crowley, but it is my best judgment then and it is my best judgment still."

Speaking of Mr. Pillsbury, Mr. Van Tassel said he was a young man of excellent reputation and well equipped in every way for the position. The state civil service had voted to transfer him from the assessors' office and, by the way, the way the transfer was brought about was a bit peculiar.

A letter signed by the three republican members of the board reached the state civil service department and in replying to the letter the civil service people addressed it to the water board. President Crowley refused to recognize the letter and resented the action as irregular and unfair.

Mr. McDowell said he did not look upon the letter as a board document, that he signed it as an individual and did not look upon it as having any connection with the board. The fact remained, however, that the state civil service letter, the answer to the letter in question, was addressed to the board.

Mr. McDowell was not in favor of the transfer advocated by the president. In fact, he said, the transfer could not be made under the civil service. He was speaking to the question of the transfers as advocated by Mr. Crowley.

After the question had been discussed pro and con and the president found that the republican members of the board were not anxious to save the $300 a year, he called for a motion. Mr. Van Tassel moved the election of Hazen G. Pillsbury as service clerk. Mr. Hill seconded the motion and the clerk called the roll. President Crowley was the first to vote and he voted for John J. Mullaney. The three republican members, Messrs. Hill, McDowell and Van Tassel voted for Hazen G. Pillsbury and Mr. Pillsbury was declared elected.

THE PRESIDENT

Names a Council of Fine Arts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Roosevelt yesterday created a council of the arts and directed that hereafter the heads of executive departments, bureaus and commissions, before any plans are formulated for public buildings or grounds or for the location or erection of any statue, must submit the matter to the council and follow its advice unless for good and sufficient reasons the president directs otherwise.

This action is in accordance with the president's announcement a few days ago, and is the outcome of suggestions to him by the American Institute of Architects. The council is composed of the following:

Architects—C. Howard Walker of Boston, Cass Gilbert, C. Grant LaFarge, Walter Cook, William A. Doring, S. B. Rowbridge, John G. Howard, Glenn Browne, Thomas R. Kimball, John L. Mauran, D. K. Burnham, John H. M. Donaldson, George B. Post, Arnold W. Brunner, Robert S. Neahody of Boston, Charles F. McKim, William S. Kemes, James Rush Marshall, Abram Garfield, Frank Miles Day and William B. Mumdie.

Painters—John LaFarge, F. D. Millet, E. H. Blashfield and Kenyon Cox. Sculptors—Daniel C. French, Herbert Adams, H. A. MacNeil and K. T. Bitter. Landscape architect—Frederick Law Olmsted, Jr., of Boston.

The supervising architect of the treasury department is to act as executive officer in carrying out the recommendations of the council.

The president named a larger number of architects as members of the council rather than representatives of the other arts because the number of architectural questions involving not only buildings, but the selection of sites, treatment of grounds and landscape accessories will largely predominate over all other problems likely to come before the body. The American Institute expresses its hearty appreciation of the action and to the arts in the steps he has taken.

Mr. McDowell said he did not look upon the letter as a board document, that he signed it as an individual and did not look upon it as having any connection with the board. The fact remained, however, that the state civil service letter, the answer to the letter in question, was addressed to the board.

The conference is held under the auspices of the national child labor committee, with Isaac N. Seligman of New York as chairman. Mrs. Sarah S. Platt Decker, Allen G. Hall, Miss Jean M. SUICIDE BROKER BRUTAL MURDER

Identified as Man of Two Men Shot Down at Checkered Career Middletown

RAWHIDE, Nev., Jan. 21.—Investigation into the affairs of Thomas S. Niblock, the broker, who committed suicide, shows that his real name was Thomas Frohman of the well known family of that name of West Down, Ireland. He served in the commons from West Down and in the zenith of his career eloped with a beautiful Irish beauty. Four years later he left her in Paris and went to New York. The day he left she was killed in a train wreck and a man crushed beyond recognition in the same compartment of the wrecked train was buried as Frohman by the members of his family. Frohman read of the crime but maintained silence and allowed his family to continue in the belief that he was a victim of the wreck. He came to Nevada and won and lost a fortune before he committed suicide in a fit of despondency.

Frohman read of the crime but maintained silence and allowed his family to continue in the belief that he was a victim of the wreck. INDIGESTION IS SO EASY TO CURE

Indigestion has always caused more nervousness than any other ailment. If you have indigestion, you don't get all the nutriment out of your food that you should. Your worn out stomach passes the food on without extracting enough nutritious substance to supply the blood and nerves. And if the nerves are not supplied with nourishment, they begin to rebel. They kick up a great disturbance. They make you irritable and cranky. You worry about trifles, and you cannot sleep soundly at night, you have bad dreams, and you get up in the morning unrefreshed. Try Mi-o-na tablets, the money back cure. Mi-o-na will cure your nervousness by driving out the cause. Mi-na will give you relief the first day. It will cure acute cases in a few days and chronic cases in a few weeks. Belching of gas, heartburn, sour taste of food, waterbrash, foul breath and other dyspeptic symptoms van before the mighty power of Mi-o-na. Try Mi-o-na. Carter & Sherb sell it and think so well of it that they will refund your money if it doesn't cure, and only 50 cents a box. Mi-o-na sold in every town in America. Have you ever tried Booth's Laxative Pills for constipation? They act with comfort and satisfaction. 25 cent box.

THE HERO FUNERAL

Awards Made to Two Ne England Persons

PITTSBURG, Jan. 21.—The Carnegie hero fund commission last night announced the names of 26 persons in different parts of the United States who have been awarded either money or medals for bravery.

Besides the 26 medals there are awarded $14,750 in cash and pensions aggregating $565 a month. New England has her share of the heroes in the list.

John Kennedy of Holyoke, Mass., on July 6, 1904, when he went to his death with Eddie Pellusser, Jr., his chum. Kennedy was 13 years of age.

The Pellusser child with some others was in a row boat when it broke from its fastenings and began to drift away. The child jumped overboard and was drowning when Kennedy tried to save him. The younger child threw his arms round the neck of his friend and dragged him down.

Three times the boys went down together and finally Kennedy broke away and started to swim for the shore. He looked back, however, and seeing Eddie sinking again, he turned and went back.

This time the child threw his arms about Kennedy and held him fast, both drowning. The commission gives the father of Kennedy a silver medal and $250.

A bronze medal and $1000 are awarded to Neal W. Beattie of Guilford, Conn. On Saturday, Jan. 2, 1906, Beattie performed a feat of live-saving which is considered somewhat unusual. William A. Sargeant, a chum of Beattie, had broken through the ice on Waits river and was drowning. He could not swim and the breaking ice worried him.

Beattie was skating some distance away, but came rushing up. He threw off his skates and when the ice broke under him as it had under Sargeant, he broke his way to Sargeant as fast as possible.

The cash awards made by the commission since its organization in 1903, including those made yesterday, amount to $153,425.25 and the allowances $16,440 annually. All officers of the commission were elected at the meeting yesterday.

The Indian Saltamah, known to the commission as Indian George, won a bronze medal and $1000 because of the assistance he gave Dean on above occasion.

AUTO FACTORY A MEMORIAL

Mayor Trying to Get it Here

Mayor Brown has addressed a letter to E. R. Hollander of the Fiat Automobile company, New York City, N. Y., advising him of the splendid opportunities afforded by this city for an automobile industry. The mayor learned that Mr. Hollander was about to return to the home office in Italy and he asked him to consider Lowell before going to the home office. The Fiat people, as has already been explained, have decided to remove their works from Italy to America and they are seeking a suitable location.

To Reinstall Lazelle Alderman Turner, chairman of the committee on accounts, has scratched the name of Frank W. Lazelle, assistant superintendent of sewers, from the payroll of the street and sewer department, and the mayor has signed the pay roll as amended by the alderman.

The end, however, is not yet. A movement was inaugurated today for the reinstatement of Mr. Lazelle on the ground that he is one of the most valuable men in the department and that his services are constantly in demand.

Common Council Meeting A special meeting of the common council for the purpose of taking action on the order to appropriate $5000 for the completion of 300 feet of the Oakland sewer between Andover and Rogers street, has been called for this evening. At last Tuesday night's meeting of the council the order was held up on motion to reconsider by Councilman Welch. The superintendent of street and sewer committee members say it is absolutely necessary that this work should be done at once in order to prevent a cave-in that is sure to be occasioned by the first warm rain.

Mayor Accepts Mayor Brown has received and has accepted an invitation from Charles C. Council 74, Knights of Columbus, to address them on some Monday evening convenient to the mayor.

System of Accounting Edward H. Morse of the Boston municipal finance committee was at the auditor's office today looking up matters in connection with the uniform system of accounting which has recently been installed in this city.

GUSTAVE DENTZEL DEAD PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—Gustave Dentzel, said to be the maker of carousels in America, died at his home here last night. He came to this country from Germany in 1867 and in that year built the first carousels in Atlantic City. In the centennial exhibition in this city he won a medal for his work. Mr. Dentzel was 63 years of age.

The Test of Merit

Lowell People Are Given Convincing Proof.

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a Lowell resident who has been cured and has stayed cured?

Read the following: Mrs. Edward Bradley, living at 65 Whipple street, Lowell, Mass., says: "My husband used Doan's Kidney Pills with the best of results. He had a great deal of trouble from his back. It would become so lame at times that he could hardly stoop or straighten and his work, which is quite hard, had a tendency to make the trouble worse. He finally learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, began using them and in a short time was relieved. Whenever he appeals to Doan's Kidney Pills now they always procure him the same prompt relief. He procures them at Ellingwood & Co's drug store."

$1000 VERDICT

RETURNED AGAINST BOSTON & NORTHERN ROAD

SALEM, Jan. 21.—In the first session of the superior court yesterday, Judge Raymond heard the arguments made in the four cases for damages arising from injuries received at the time of the boiler explosion at the West Lynn, Dec. 6, 1906, and the cases were given to the jury this morning. In the second session before Judge Layton in the case of Nellie S. Low of Rockport vs. Boston & Northern street railway company for damages for injury to her eye from flying glass from a broken electric light bulb in a car on which she was a passenger and where it was claimed that the bulb was broken by the carelessness of an employee in turning a sign on the car while it was in motion, the jury returned a verdict for plaintiff for $1000.

WRITS FOR ARRESTS ISSUED OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 21.—An information charging Scott MacReynolds and Attorney Hoster, representatives of Wm. R. Hearst, with having attempted to conspire with R. L. Warrants were issued for the arrest of MacReynolds and Hoster.

$100,000 A DAY

To Support Refugees Made Homeless by the Earthquake

ROME, Jan. 21.—The gravest problem which Italy now faces is that of providing for the 200,000 refugees made homeless by the recent earthquake who are scattered throughout Sicily and Calabria or congregated in Naples. Their support is costing approximately $100,000 a day, an enormous sum which neither international charity nor the resources of the state can bear for any length of time. Besides, charity has had the effect of arousing the appetites of the low and turbulent classes resulting in numerous disorders. Thus it is made plain that it is more urgent to give work to these thousands instead of fostering in them the belief that they can indefinitely continue on public charity.

ARMY INSPECTION

Of Sixth Inf. at Armory Last Evening

The three local companies of the Sixth regiment held their annual United States army inspection at the armory last evening, before a crowd of spectators that taxed the capacity of the armory. The inspecting officer was Major Fulsom, U. S. A., of the 24th Infantry, the famous Brownsville regiment, and he was assisted by Major Sweetser, commander of the First Battalion of the Sixth Infantry, and his battalion adjutant, Lieut. Fisher.

There were many officers, past and present, of the state militia at the inspection, among them being Capt. Colby T. Kittredge of the general staff attached to the Sixth Infantry, and former Lieut. Arthur D. Colby, not many months ago a member of Co. K.

Previous to the inspection and during the early hours of the afternoon, the inspecting officers went through each company quarters, looked through the lockers of the men, and made careful inventory of federal government property in the hands of the companies.

With their new dress uniforms which have been issued to the men since the last previous inspection, the troops made an excellent appearance. The present dress uniforms are far more on the decorative order than the old blue blouses and "bell bottomed" trousers, while the new set-up of the men was completed by the neat leather belts and cartridge boxes.

All of the companies were put through their paces, and in the same way. First the companies were lined up one at a time on the floor of the drill shed, marching down from their own quarters where the ranks were formed.

Then came the usual inspection of arms and accoutrements, the inspecting officers passing down each of the two lines, examining each rifle and asking many questions of the men, and especially of the non-commissioned officers.

Then some one or two squads were picked out at random from the troops standing in company front, and put through squad drill in close and open order under command of the squad corporals. There was no attempt at advance guard work or guard duty.

The inspection of the men was short, and none of the companies was on the floor more than 15 or 20 minutes.

The United States army inspection of Co. M, of the Ninth Infantry, M. V. M., will take place tonight at the armory, and it is expected that besides the regular army officers present, there will also be several officers from the staff and field of the Ninth Infantry.

LILLEY DROPPED

No Longer a Member of the House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—That the service of George L. Lilley as a member of the house of representatives stopped on Jan. 20, the day following that on which he was inaugurated governor of Connecticut, was the opinion expressed by the house judiciary committee in a resolution adopted by the house yesterday. Gov. Lilley has not tendered his resignation to the house. The committee's report was on the resolution offered by Rep. Gains, Tenn., striking Mr. Lilley's name from the roll of the house and declaring his seat vacant. It contained a letter from Gov. Lilley in which he said that he tendered his resignation as congressman to Gov. Woodruff, who declined to receive it, saying that for so long it would be necessary to hold a special election.

The judiciary committee reported that Mr. Lilley has not been in attendance at any time at the present session of congress although he drew his check for his stationery for the month of January. In December Mr. Lilley made application from his home for a remittance of the mileage due him for the present session of congress but the sergeant-at-arms of the house informed him that mileage is payable only when a member has attended a session.

The committee claims in its report that the resignation tendered by Mr. Lilley to Gov. Woodruff was sufficient, although not accepted by the governor. To terminate his membership in the house insofar as Mr. Lilley is concerned.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Frank Emerson, a civil engineer of Lynn, and Miss Lillian G. Smith, formerly keeper of a cloak store in John street, were united in marriage at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church, Tuesday evening at 5:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. The best man was Mr. Archie Emerson, a brother of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaid was Miss Lillian Brown, a cousin of the bride. Upon their return from their wedding tour, they will live at 102 Westford street.

TO HEAR REP. WILLET

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—A special committee, which is to recommend to the house the action that should be taken on the speech of Rep. Willet of New York, in which the president was severely criticized, met yesterday. Before final action is taken as to whether the speech should be stricken from the record, the committee will give Rep. Willet an opportunity to be heard if he desires.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Automobile manufacturers now in the city of New York to attend the show in Madison Square Garden have done considerable talking about the suggestion made by David Beecroft, a member of the Chicago Motor club's technical committee, that a uniform set of rules and conditions should be adopted to govern all of the stock chasses road races that will be run this year in different parts of the country.

Elmer Apperson, whose cars were entered in the Savannah and Biarritz trials, said yesterday that he hoped the rules adopted by the Biarritz committee for the 1909 contest for the trophy donated by Walter W. Law would be adopted at the proposed meeting which is scheduled to be held during the progress of the Chicago show next month. He said that the members of the Biarritz committee have evidently considered the matter very carefully before making their second and final draft of rules, he thought it would be a great mistake to make another change.

Hugh N. Harding, who drove the National six cylinder racer in the Automobile Club of America's Grand Prize contest at Savannah last Thanksgiving Day, sails for England today on a business trip. He expects to return here in five or six weeks, when he will go to Indianapolis to oversee the construction of two racing cars, as he is to be built up to the limit of the rules adopted at the congress of the International Association of Recognized Automobile clubs in France last year, but the National firm will place enter stock car events for which their regular cars are eligible.

As a result of a decision recently rendered by Judge McHenry in the district court, Des Moines, Ia., all lights on automobiles are not necessary in that city if the red lights on the side can be seen from the rear. A number of automobilists who were arrested for driving around the city streets at night without tail lights, and whom Police Judge Stewart fined, appealed to sustain his own action and contended that to comply with the law the automobiles must have lights hung on the rear. But Judge McHenry after a close scrutiny of the state law found that the requirement was that a red light shall show to the rear of the car. There was nothing to demand that the light must hang at the rear end of the car, so he dismissed all the cases.

SURPRISE PARTY

MISS BELLA LEAR WAS PRESENT. ED BEAUTIFUL SIGNET RING

A very enjoyable surprise party was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Winifred P. Lear, 322 Lincoln street, when her daughter, Miss Bella, was made the recipient of a beautiful signet ring. The presentation address was delivered by Master Joseph Sousa. Miss Lear responded and in fitting words thanked her friends for the token.

During the evening games were played and an excellent musical program was given. It included vocal solos by Masters Frank Routine, and Joseph Sousa and Miss Lear. The pianists were Misses Lear and Carey. Refreshments were served and the guests departed thanking the hostess for the good time enjoyed.

KID CARTER

WAS PUT AWAY BY PECK LE FAVOR

BROCKTON, Jan. 21.—There were four boxing bouts at the opening of the Union Athletic club here last night. Peck Lefavor of this city put Kid Carter of Lowell away in less than two rounds. The Brockton boy had his man groggy at the end of the first round and finished things up in an easy manner in the second.

Jack Johnson, a colored miller of Boston, put Hayward Reizgas of this city, formerly Quill's sparring partner out of the going in two rounds. Briggs fought well in the opening round, but was sent spinning in the second with a stiff left to the jaw.

Mike Brady and Kid McDonald of Boston boxed a good four-round draw. Kid Reardon bettered Tom Leary of this city in a four-round go.

Pat Doherty was referee.

BILLERICA

The regular meeting of North Billerica council, Royal Arcanum, was held last night, and S. D. G. R. Dr. Joseph A. Melan and Grand Guile Joseph H. Gormley were entertained. It was intended to install the officers that were recently chosen by the council but this matter was postponed and will take place Wednesday, Feb. 3. A resolution was provided after the meeting.

The Asa John Patten Sewing society, 20, met with Mrs. Coburn Smith yesterday afternoon with a good attendance. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fred Smith. The next circle will meet with Miss Jessie Callahan Wednesday, Jan. 27.

A SALOON FIGHT POSTAL BANKS

Resulted in Death of Favored by the Postmaster General

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Jan. 21.—Eugene Goffroy, who has a wife and two children living here, died here today at the Twin City hospital of a fractured skull, while Joseph St. John, a former friend of the man, is under bonds charged with assault. According to the police, Goffroy and St. John quarreled in a saloon one night last week. Later Goffroy was found unconscious and his friend was arrested. The police say that further developments will follow an autopsy which has been ordered.

JAIL THREAT

STATE OF KANSAS DOWN ON "AFFINITIES"

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 21.—The "affinity" business will not be popular in Kansas hereafter. A law making it a felony will pass the legislature and Gov. Stubbs has promised to sign it. Senator Travis of Iowa has introduced a bill which makes it a felony for a married woman to run away with another man, and vice versa. Even a temporary "affinity" is punishable by a jail sentence.

Any man who deserts his wife or a legitimate child under 14 years of age will be guilty of a crime punishable by a jail or penitentiary sentence. The same punishment is to be meted out to a wife. If a man refuses to support his wife or child, he must go to jail.

Another bill, which seems certain of passage, provides that brides and grooms must be subjected to strict questioning by the probate judge before they are granted a license to marry. In addition, consent of parents, etc., they must give a family history, dating back through several generations.

These questions relating to the health and disease of parents are such as to require them to be answered in private by groom and bride, as they relate to matters which a modest groom or a blushing bride would not care to answer in the presence of the other.

U. S. BATTLESHIPS
SALEONKA, Turkey, Jan. 21.—The battleships Ohio and Mississippi left here today for Smyrna. Before their departure officers of the ships exchanged visits with the local authorities.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Court City of Lowell, held in Foresters hall last night, was well attended and considerable routine business was transacted during the evening. Four candidates were elected.

The court contemplates a class initiation in the near future. It was voted to change the second meeting night in March from the 15th to the 18th in order to give an opportunity for the St. Patrick's day celebration to be carried out in Foresters hall. Refreshments were served.

Oberlin Lodge
Oberlin lodge, I. O. O. F., was entertained Tuesday night by P. G. W. M. Cotton, who gave an interesting description of the initiatory degree as exemplified by Monadnock lodge of Lawrence. The committee on collection, on new paraphernalia and on new members made reports and new work was assigned along all lines. The paraphernalia for the new work will soon be here, and the degrees will be put on in good shape.

MISS WEBBER A WITCH WITH THE COOK STOVE

Miss Carolyn Putnam Webber, demonstrator for the Lowell Gas Light Co.'s excellent gas stoves, again delighted a large audience of women last night in St. Patrick's school hall, where she gave a first cooking lecture a week ago. About 300 housewives—not to mention the prospective ones anxious to learn all they can to please "him" some day—attended the first lecture. Last night this number was considerably increased, the news of the good things Miss Webber said, and, above all, the good things she made and taught to make having evidently spread afar. The lecture, like the previous one, was a great success, the ladies going home highly pleased, not only with the clever little chef-lecturer but with the excellent quality of the gas stoves upon which she made all the delicious things. Her menu last night, prepared with a marvelous dexterity and rapidity which made everyone envious, included crumbed pork cutlets, sautéed sauce, potato puffs, bread omelette,illy cake, caramel frosting, and chocolate whips—these last a perfect masterpiece in the art of dainty dessert preparation.

SLIGHT BLAZE

The alarm from box 5 at 5.30 last evening was for a small blaze in the attic of a house in Rock street. The damage was slight. Fred C. Church had the insurance.
